

FIERCE FIGHTING BEFORE PORT ARTHUR

JUDGE HUNT DECLARES THE BOYCOTT UNLAWFUL

TERRIFIC FIGHTING IN ANOTHER GREAT BATTLE.

Three Days Battle Under a Scorching Sun—Mikado's Men Victors.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 6.—A dispatch to the Bourse Gazette, from Liao Yang, says that another great battle has been fought in the neighborhood of Housiatze, on the railroad about four miles west of Liao Yang in which the Japanese losses are estimated to have been from ten to thirteen thousand, and the Russian losses insignificant.

The despatch to the Bourse Gazette, which is dated Thursday evening, says: "There has been fierce fighting Tuesday, Wednesday and today. The Japanese made a vigorous attack on the center of the Russian position at Housiatze. The enemy was fifty-four battalions strong; thirty-six of which were regular troops and the balance reserve men. General Kuroki employed the reserve men in the attack, while the regulars carried out the feints intended to delude the Russians. The reserve men attacked with desperation. Their ranks were decimated by the Russian fire each time they advanced but the vacancies were quickly filled up with fresh men.

"The Russians ultimately slowly retired to suitable positions, whence they inflicted great losses on the Japanese by heavy artillery fire. The Japanese losses are estimated at ten to thirteen thousand men. The Russian losses were comparatively insignificant."

JAPANESE ADVANCE.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 6.—General Kuropatkin reports that the Japanese advanced ten miles north of Hsicheng Thursday and that they are also advancing in considerable force from Panhsu (Kutaisa) on the Russian east flank. The Japanese were concentrated in the neighborhood of Hsicheng and considerable forces of Japanese at Housiatze and Sikseyan crossed the right bank of the Taitz River, but were driven back.

AFTER RAILROAD.

NEW CHIWANG, August 6 (noon).—Russian spies made an attempt to destroy the railroad bridge near Ying-kow this morning. They were frustrated by Chinese railroad employees. General Fukushima was supposed to be on a train about to cross the bridge.

BOYCOTT IS DECLARED TO BE ILLEGAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 6.—Superior Judge Hunt today decided against the legality of picketing and boycotting by labor unions.

The decision was rendered in the case of E. G. Pierce against the local Stablemen's Union and others. The union, as stated by the judge, called out its men employed in the plaintiff's stables and picketed his place of business because he refused to discharge a non-union man and substitute a union man in his stead at the demand of a walking delegate of the union.

The action was brought to obtain a permanent injunction against the defendants to restrain them from continuing the boycott. Upon filing the complaint a restraining order was issued enjoining defendants from interfering with plaintiff's business, from picketing his premises and from molesting or intimidating any of his workmen or patrons. The cause was tried and submitted and the judge has now made the injunction permanent in accordance with the previous restraining order.

In his decision, Judge Hunt says: "The courts generally hold that the boycott is illegal. That the plaintiff was injured in his property rights cannot be gainsaid; that the acts of defendants, if continued, would ultimately have destroyed his business, is admitted. If defendant's acts were unlawful, the law presumes that their intent was unlawful, and the act of 1903, referring to judicial injunctions, could not and does not sanction a combination to accomplish an unlawful act."

After expressing his opinion that the legislative act mentioned is unconstitutional, Judge Hunt says: "Freedom is the spirit and essence of the constitution, but the freedom thus guaranteed to the citizen no more implies a license to deprive him of his personal liberty. The constitution alike protects natural freedom and industrial freedom. If the right of property is inalienable, the right to labor is inalienable. The right to labor is a right to property, and the duty to protect it is the highest office of our laws.

"If the legislature can deprive a court of equity, of the right to issue an injunction in a case like this, then it could deprive it of the right to issue an injunction in any case; it could absolutely divest the court of what is and always has been one of its most potent remedies, thus nullifying its powers and making impotent its decrees.

"It is undoubtedly true that the legislature may alter or regulate remedies and procedures legal and equitable; but it cannot destroy a substantial remedy nor can it defeat the enforcement of a constitutional right by depriving the injured party of the only remedy that the law can award for its violation."

In conclusion the court grants the final decree of injunction as prayed for by the plaintiff.

WILL NOT FIGHT.

ST. PETERSBURG, August 6.—Military officers think it unlikely that General Kuropatkin is giving battle at Liao Yang, since this would involve the abandonment of the stores, totaling millions of pounds, accumulated there, and would be almost as bad as a general defeat.

DIED ON FIELD.

LIAO YANG, August 6.—Prince Shiroki, an eye witness of Lieutenant-General Keller's death, says it was due to a reckless inspection of the batteries made on foot. During a lull in the fighting about midday July 31 General Keller, though warned by his subordinates that his white uniform made a fine target, laughed and slipped from his horse and walked to the front of the battery just as a sharp shell burst. He died within two minutes after being wounded. The railway carriage in which his body was brought here was profusely decorated with evergreens and wild flowers gathered by his men as a last tribute to their commander.

LAWFUL PRIZE.

VLADIVOSTOK, August 6.—The prize court yesterday adjudged the sunken steamer Knight Commander and its cargo a lawful prize. The trial of the case and an investigation of the steamer's papers, etc., established the fact that the cargo, consisting principally of railway material, was consigned through a Japanese port to Chemulpo, lending fairly to the inference that it was designed for use on the military railway under construction from Seoul to the Yalu.

REPORT OF BATTLE.

ST. PETERSBURG, August 6, 5:45 p. m.—The Liao Yang dispatch to the Bourse Gazette is believed to refer to the fighting of July 30, July 31, and August 1. The war office has not received any reports of later fighting and points out that Housiatze is a couple of miles west of Yushu Pass, whence the Russians fell back on Anping after the battle of July 31.

Japanese Said to Have Lost Ten Thousand Men.

Russians Were Finally Forced to Beat a Retreat.

CHEE FO, August 6, 7 p. m.—A newspaper published at Port Arthur and which was brought in here today gives fragmentary details of the recent heavy fighting there.

SLEPT ON ARMS.

The Japanese artillery opened a desultory fire on the afternoon of July 25. That night the Russians slept on their arms in the trenches. They occupied a line 16 miles long. The next morning, July 26, the fog cleared away at 6 o'clock and the Japanese then began to fire along the entire line. This fire was kept up until dark. The Japanese' marksmanship was accurate. The Russians took their share of the damage from the preceding day. Their heaviest fire was directed against the batteries, which included the 12-inch naval guns commanded by Prince Tschelidze and Capt. Shrydloff. A perfect shower of shells struck the earthworks or went screeching into the valley behind, doing considerable damage to the artillerymen.

HOT FIGHTING.

The hottest fighting began at daybreak of July 27. The battle commenced under the rays of a scorching sun. The Russian right wing was commanded by Major-General Kondratenko, who was compelled to undergo the brunt of the terrific cannonading. To this fierce fire the Russians replied with deliberation. The naval battery was again made the target for the heaviest fire, and it was evident that the Japanese were trying to silence the most dangerous Russian position. A perfect shower of shrapnel was thrown into the valley behind the Russian batteries and when Major-General Kondratenko saw this he remarked that the Japanese evidently believed that the Russian reserves were in this valley. From the naval guns observers occasionally saw shells bursting near the other batteries.

As the day wore on the accuracy of the Japanese fire increased. In the meanwhile the Russian infantry, passive witnesses of the artillery duel, lay in their trenches awaiting an attack. They were well protected and but a few shells fell among them.

THE ASSAULT.

At 9 o'clock volley firing gave warning of the Japanese assault, which followed swiftly. As the Japanese infantry advanced the Japanese artillery fire slackened somewhat, but the Russian batteries replied with increased vigor, while the Russian riflemen volleyed rapidly and with great animation. For an hour the Japanese advanced intrepidly in the face of a fire which is described as a thousand volleys in simultaneous eruption. The Japanese advance against the Russian right wing ceased, and the Russians cheered, but at this moment news arrived from Gen. Snesel, the commander-in-chief at Port Arthur, announcing that the terrific pounding to which the Russian right wing had been subjected was nothing more than a mask to cover the concentration of the Japanese troops preparatory to an attack upon the Russian left wing of which Wolf's Mountain was the key.

Gen. Stoessel commanded the presence of Major-General Kondratenko, who with his staff, mounted his horse and at once started to join the commander-in-chief. After having ridden a short distance Major-General Kondratenko was compelled to choose between two roads, one long and safe from the fire of the enemy, the other short and leading through the shell-swept valley. "Iod favors the brave," remarked the general, and he and his staff galloped over the dangerous road.

USED TELEPHONES.

At noon on July 27 the Japanese, who had been attacked suddenly ceased firing and presently observers, with the aid of field glasses, could see the enemy quietly eating rice. After this the right wing was occasionally reminded of this, and the Japanese by the descent of a huge shell, but the worst was over. In the meanwhile the main attack, which resulted in the capture of Wolf's mountain, had been developed. During the fighting of these three days the Russians used telephones for communication with all parts of the field.

READY FOR THE CAMPAIGN.

Secretary Cortelou Will Open Quarters in New York.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Chairman Cortelou left today for New York. He will take up immediately the campaign work at the New York headquarters.

While the preliminary work of the campaign is already well in hand, the public campaign will not begin until about the middle of September, except in Vermont and in Maine, which States hold early elections. By September 20th, however, the speaking campaign will be in full swing, and it will not close until the night before the November elections.

Mr. Cortelou had a short conference with President Roosevelt today before his departure for New York.

EXCURSION TRAIN IN A WRECK.

SAN JOSE, August 6.—The engine drawing the excursion train of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen of Oakland, bound for Sunset Park at Wrights, jumped the track while nearing the broad-gauge depot in this city this morning, but no one was hurt. The excursionists were transferred to another train and it was some hours before a wrecking crew of the locomotive back on the track.

LUKENS' FRIENDS WILL NOT FIGHT KNOWLAND.

During the last few days there has been talk in the senate it has been seen some quiet whispering to the effect that the friends of Senator Lukens intended to spring a ticket at the last moment in opposition to Senator Knowland.

If there ever was anything more

FORTRESS IS SURE TO FALL.

Russian Says Czar's Men Cannot Hold Out.

CHEE FO, August 6—3:30 p. m.—"Port Arthur certainly will fall inside of one or two months, depending how fast the Japanese move."

This opinion was expressed today by an educated Russian who has just arrived here from Port Arthur, by a junk. He had fifteen companions and the party left the Russian stronghold six days ago. They suffered much hardship on the trip over from a lack of food and water.

The Russian who voiced the foregoing opinion occupied an important semi-official position at Port Arthur and his views are regarded as valuable. He says that while the Japanese constantly receive reinforcements, every Russian casualty decreases the defensive efficiency of the garrison as the Russians cannot be reinforced. General Stoessel, commander-in-chief at Port Arthur, is compelled to husband his ammunition. He can manufacture shells, but it is impossible to make proper explosives. The necessity of protecting the men for the final stand explains the retreat of the Russians from the strong outpost positions, where their losses were far less serious than those sustained by the assailants.

According to this Russian, General Stoessel is in daily communication with General Kuropatkin.

The three days' fighting of last week was done chiefly with artillery.

SAYS PORT HAS FALLEN.

Story, However, is Not Given Credence in New York.

NAGASAKI, August 6 (noon).—It is reported here that Port Arthur has been captured by the Japanese.

NOT CONFIRMED.

NEW YORK, August 6 (11:35 a. m.)—It is not probable that Nagasaki would be the first point and the only point to learn of the fall of Port Arthur. There are no advices from Tokio to the Japanese Legations at Washington or London to confirm the Nagasaki report.

NO CREDENCE.

ST. PETERSBURG, August 6.—The report of the fall of Port Arthur received from Nagasaki does not obtain greater credence at the Admiralty and War Office here than previous telegrams on the same subject.

FRIENDS OF GEO. RANDOLPH CLAIM HE WILL BE NOMINATED.

Judging from the well attended meetings that the Randolph Republican Club has been holding throughout the Fifth Supervisorial district during the past week, there can be no doubt of the outcome or of the intense interest that the people are manifesting in Randolph's behalf. Numerous speakers are taking the floor and stating their reasons for endorsing Mr. Randolph for Supervisor during the present campaign.

One of the conspicuous features is the social standing of the men who are supporting him. They are principally business men and responsible citizens, of whom the Fifth Supervisorial district claims a large number.

The Fifth Supervisorial district is the largest and most rapidly growing district in Oakland and many important issues are now pending requiring a man of undoubted ability and integrity to carry out the best interests of the people regardless of party rule or corporation influence.

Mr. Randolph's record for the past twelve years before the people of Oakland has demonstrated his ability as well as his fitness for these responsibilities. He has given much of his time to the business affairs of the home for the Adult Blind and since he was placed on this board several years ago he has succeeded in placing the home on a most satisfactory basis, restoring it from chaos and disorder to a well-regulated sanitary and up-to-date institution, working on a most satisfactory basis and it is now considered one of the grandest institutions in America.

This required much time and hard work on the part of Mr. Randolph and the board certainly has a "vested interest" in him. It is only one of the numerous responsible positions that Mr. Randolph has held during his public service.

As president of the Board of Education, and more especially as chairman of the Committee on School Houses and Sites, he has done splendid work.

The present generation of Oakland is indebted to him for the splendid school buildings and grounds which she alone possesses.

As superintendent of the Oakland Iron Works he has helped his institution to gain international fame, also to be one of the largest works of its kind in the State.

During all these years, with the opportunities that surround these offices, not even his most bitter political enemies have been able to breathe a word against his integrity and good judgment. Perhaps the most typical remark from Mr. Randolph was those which he recently addressed to a large gathering of voters working for his nomination at a meeting held in A. O. U. Hall, at Fifty-second and Telegraph. He said:

"Gentlemen and voters of the Fifth Supervisorial district I thank you for the demonstration you have given me this evening. I did not anticipate so large a meeting or so hearty a reception as you have given me. I at least, though you would be able to find standing room anywhere. As you may know, I am not the best speaker in this hall tonight, although I have established the reputation of being a hard worker."

Now there are a few things that I want to talk plainly to you about this evening.

"As you know I have an opponent who is also an aspirant for the office. I am seeking against him I have nothing to say. I am not fighting against any individual. I am simply aspiring for an office in which I hope it will be to your pleasure to place me at the coming election."

"What I do want and ask you to do, is this: I want your own judgment. You all have minds of your own and know how to use them and do not need any one to tell you what your business is."

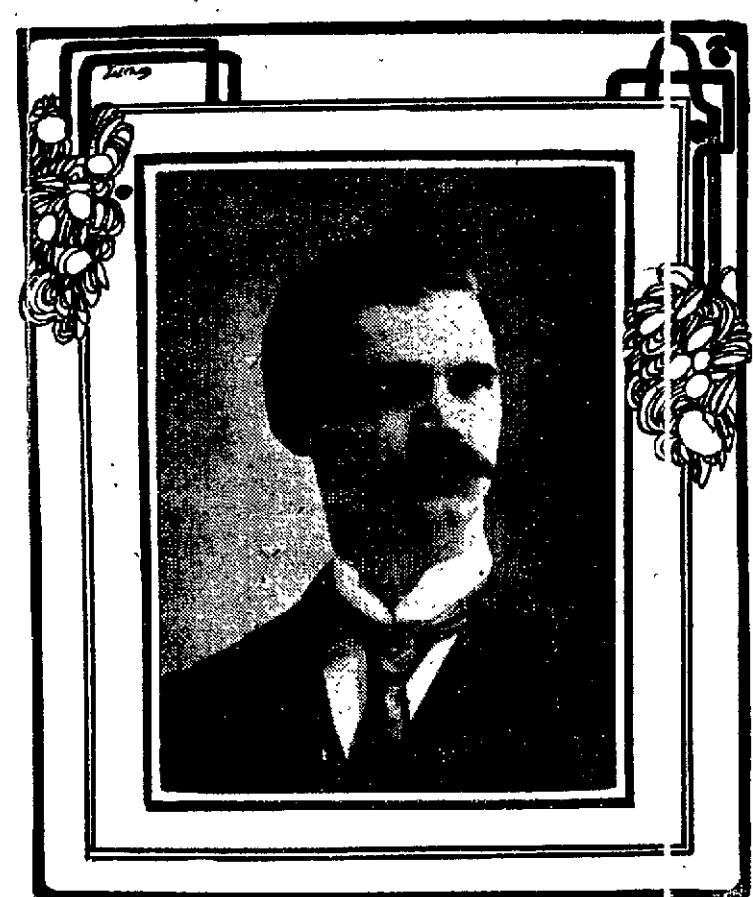

"There can be no doubt of the fact that our citizens who pay taxes and are the backbone of the community have been most to blame when unsuitable men have been elected to public office. Every citizen owes not only to himself and family but the government under which he lives, to do politics, not petty politics, but business politics, which means simply that he should advance and protect his own as well as his neighbor's interest to the best of his ability by striving to elect from among his fellow citizens the best men or the different offices. These best men cannot be placed before the people to be voted for unless they are regularly nominated by some political party."

"Now I do not want any of you to think that I have come here tonight for the purpose of persuading you to vote for me at the primary election. No thought is as far from my mind as that. What I do ask is to use your own judgment and you will not deceive yourselves. Just think over the quality of the candidates who will be presented to you for nomination on Tuesday, August 9th."

Examine their records, and also take into consideration the manner in which you yourselves have thought of them. It is your right as well as your duty to see that the right man is put in the right place. I believe that you will do this and if you do the county can have no fear of the results."

"During the primary campaign the work of investigating the qualification of the candidates for office must be done at on primary election day the votes must be cast. The primary election will be held in Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley, Tuesday, August 9th, between 6 a. m. and 5 p. m. It is your duty to vote on that day. Do not neglect it for your vote may decide who our next Supervisor, State Senator and Assemblyman will be. You can vote at the primary if your name is on the Great Register of 1902, provided you have not moved from the primary election precinct in which you have registered or on the new register, if within 30 days of the primary election. Be sure and vote at the primary and after you will have the opportunity of electing the man of your own choice. Thanking you again for this large meeting and hearty reception, I assure you I will do my duty later if you will do yours now."

A full list of the delegates will be published in the Monday evening's papers.

NEW PROGRAM AT IDORA.

MANY EVENTS ARE PLANNED FOR THE ENSUING WEEK.

Tonight and tomorrow with the regular Sunday afternoon matinee ends the run of "My Wife's Husband" at the theater in Idora Park. It has been one of the most successful productions seen this season and could stand for another week had not the management arranged for a whole batch of new novelties that must be presented according to contract and so on Monday evening the company will be seen in another musical comedy, "Turning the Tables." It will serve to introduce the following musical numbers: "The Day of the Handicap" a racing song with a chorus and ballet, in which the popular chorus girls will appear as jockeys; "Mozart's Lincoln" a new comic song and dance introducing the chorus in buck and wing dancing, and the new Indian song, "Ki-Yo" which is all the rage in the East. This will be its first performance on the coast, and it will go like wild fire, for it possesses more vim and dash than "Navajo." In this song the chorus appears as Indians and have a characteristic dance. The little comedy tells an amusing story and is full of fun. In the vaudeville show will be seen the following numbers: Miss Daisy Krell, as the College Girl introducing her "College Dance"; Ali Zada, an Oriental juggler and magician; Miss Jessie Orr in comic song and dance; "When the Blue Sky Turns to Gold," illustrated with beautiful slides; and the ever popular moving pictures. The same program will be continued all next week, with the addition of the amateurs on Friday night.

It has been estimated that over a thousand different people have been on of Captain Baldwin's new air ship since it has been on exhibition in the park. Tomorrow it will be given a public exhibition on the ball grounds no matter what the weather may be. The ship must leave shortly for St. Louis.

"The grounds are daily being improved and a $1000 fountain will shortly be built near the entrance."

BITS ABOUT PAINTERS.
Franz von Lenbach, the great portrait painter, painted three portraits of the poet, Adolph Wilhelm. The sittings varied from three to five hours. On one occasion the sitting lasted through the whole day, with intervals for meals. The afternoon passed and the poet had been painting Lenbach worked away without appearing to notice the falling light. At last it grew so dark that Wilhelm could scarcely see him. He called his attention to this. It seemed impossible for him to paint any more, but Lenbach begged him, unless he was tired, to continue sitting. "But what can you see of me?" asked the poet. "Quite the best of all," replied Lenbach. "Still, please." And the sitting only ended with the last glimmer of light.

J. F. Watts, the English painter who had recently executed a portrait of Robert Browning that is very much admired, but the poet himself was never quite satisfied with the leathery complexion which seemed to be Mr. Watts' equivalent for his own. He longed to sleep with them. On their little iron-shoe heels I was firm on my feet and trotted from one end of Paris to the other. She also smoked in public cigarettes—even cigars—so that her teeth were much discolored. It was this outward mannishness that won for her the title of "Illustrious Hybrid." However, her hands were beautifully feminine. "It was," says one who knew her, "a delicate hand, all grace, tact, firmness and flexibility. One could not dream of a more perfect combination of the French work-

WILL RETURN.
Mrs. Walker Edward Teague of 1154 Eighth street is expected home the first part of the week from a delightful sojourn at Santa Cruz and Capitola. Among the party are Miss Annabelle, Miss Lillian MacLeod, Mrs. J. L. Teague, Miss Nellie Teague and Master Earle Teague.

Two stars once on their lonely way Met in the heavenly heights, And they dreamed a dream they might shine away.

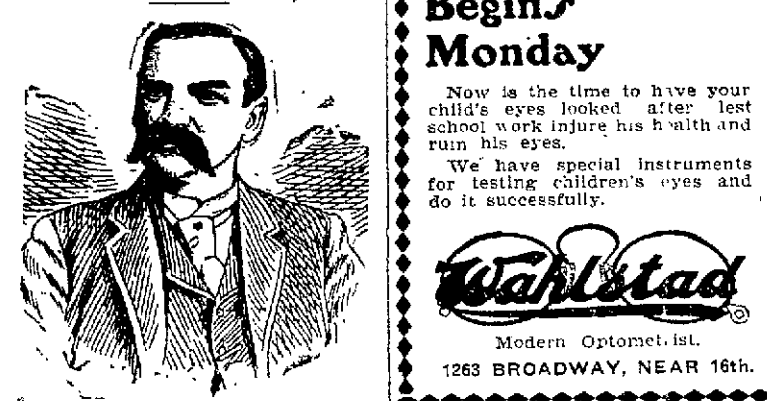

With undivided light; Met into one with a breathless three, And beam as one in the night.

And each forgot in the dream so strange How desolately far Swept on each path, for who shall change The orbit of a star?

Yes, all was a dream, and they still must go As lonely as they are.

GOOD THINGS IN LIFE.
George Sand, or Mme. Dudevant, the famous French woman writer, scandalized her literary friends by wearing men's clothes. "A long gray overcoat," she herself says she wore, "a woolen tie and—and a pair of boots." These boots were her joy, for they were much discolored. On their little iron-shoe heels I was firm on my feet and trotted from one end of Paris to the other. She also smoked in public cigarettes—even cigars—so that her teeth were much discolored. It was this outward mannishness that won for her the title of "Illustrious Hybrid." However, her hands were beautifully feminine. ## A COOL FROST.

We present today the portrait of a man who will be recognized at once as the hero of many a desperate encounter and the chief of some of the most difficult pieces of successful detective work ever executed on this coast.

Erwin Frost is a man of honor, with a giant's strength in nerve and muscle, but his power and the secret of his success lies in the executive force within the huge skull that surmounts his massive frame.

Frost came to our city from San Jose and opened his office here with scarcely a squib announcing his coming. Only one of the many papers published in Oakland's suburbs did consider the fact worthy of more than ordinary mention.

Erwin Frost is not a candidate, not even for Sheriff, he is now a deputy for this county and his duty is to be the limit. He is also one of Hemphill's deputy constables and he wants no additional reinforcements.

The Beanstalking Campaign

Some of Senator Bard's friends are circulating, anonymously, certain eulogistic testimonials to the character and ability of the junior Senator from California given by his colleagues in the Senate. It is somewhat extraordinary that a man who has resided as long in California as Senator Bard has, should find it necessary to go abroad for witnesses to his fitness and good character, but that aside, such testimonials as have been given Senator Bard by his colleagues are of no importance. They are given as a matter of form, it being esteemed one of the courtesies of the Senate that every member shall testify when called on in every other Senator's behalf.

But why not apply a common sense rule in passing judgment on Senator Bard's qualifications as a representative of California in the Senate? Mr. Bard has resided in this State nearly forty years. With what measure or movement of importance has his name been identified? When has he ever appeared as the champion of any especial policy or taken his position as a leader of men? What public abuse has he ever attacked? What reform has he ever advocated? When has his voice been heard in times of turmoil over State policies or questions vital to the welfare of the people?

During all the years of his residence in California Senator Bard has been a staid, respectable business man and church member, but beyond his wealth, respectability and church-membership, his activities have never strayed. When vital issues were pending and forceful leadership demanded, nobody ever heard of Thomas R. Bard being at the front. In times of stress he devoted his attention exclusively to growing beans and attending prayer meetings.

Far be it from us to deride either prayer or the bean industry—placing them in the proper order of merit, still less do we insinuate that growing beans and praying are not entirely congenial to Senator Bard's tastes and statesmanship. But we do affirm that a leader of men, a statesman who assumes to legislate for a great nation and to represent in the highest legislature in the world an imperial State, must do something besides saying prayers and growing beans. These latter are pursuits of virtue and thrift, but they do not answer the calls of political leadership. A man may be a successful bean-grower and not be a great statesman. He may pray long, loud and often, yet be incompetent to deal with important affairs of government. He may be ignorant, narrow, selfish and mentally torpid. He may even be a hypocrite. But in a republican form of government leadership cannot hide itself under a bushel—even of beans—nor obscure itself in the strict observance of the Calvinistic faith. We have heard much of Senator Bard as a grower of beans and a devout member of the church, but whoever heard of him leading in any movement that agitated the people of California, and which was inaugurated to settle any question vital to the public welfare?

Senator's Bard's colleagues in the Senate can not bear witness on this point. The answer is one that any ordinary citizen is competent to give offhand. In the Senate Mr. Bard has been respectable—and harmless. Likewise of no practical use. At the National Capitol he is still a respectable grower of beans and a regular attendant at the Presbyterian Church. However admirable, they do not constitute a claim to statesmanship or a record of satisfactory performance as a Senator. California wants a man who knows more than beans. A beanstalk cannot be imposed upon them as a statesman.

A correspondent takes a writer in Harper's Weekly to task for alleging that all the Presidents were imbued with the feeling that a Roman Catholic has no soul. The correspondent points out that Andrew Jackson appointed Roger B. Taney first, Secretary of the Treasury and subsequently, Chief Justice, and that William McKinley appointed Joseph McKenna first, Attorney General and then Justice of the Supreme Court. He might have added that Grover Cleveland appointed Justice White, another Catholic, to the Supreme Bench. President Harrison appointed Patrick Egan Minister to Chile. Catholics have never been barred from the honors of high office in this country since they became sufficiently numerous to be appreciably felt as a constituent element of the population. Why, Commodore John Barry, affectionately called the Father of the American Navy, was a Catholic.

Futility of the Present Strikes

With the cost of meat and bread rapidly increasing, it is not strange that workingmen should protest against a decrease in wages, but is it wise to strike at this time? Developments to date indicate the loss of the wholesale strike in the meat packing centers. Over 30,000 cotton mill operatives have gone out in New England, and now there is a general lockout of the building trades in New York City. Serious disturbance to business must inevitably result from these widespread strikes and lockouts, and the first and immediate sufferers will be the laboring men and their families. At best, a strike should never be indulged in unless it promises success, or at least an amelioration of the conditions of which the wage earners complain. Do the strikes now in progress promise success? Rather the contrary. Their wisdom may, therefore, be well doubted. Indeed, in the present posture of affairs, the strike's promise to work a positive injury to the wage-earning class. They are, therefore, to be regretted as much on account of the men who have been led into striking as for the injury they will inflict on general business. As a mechanic remarked to a number of his workmen associates the other day: "This is a good time for a man to hold onto his job." A whole volume of sound common sense is compressed into that sentence. It is the protest of wisdom against strikes at the present juncture. It embodies the frank recognition of conditions which cannot be bettered by a stoppage of industrial activity. Such stoppage can only alter conditions for the worse. The cart cannot be mended by tipping it over.

Perhaps it would be unkind to suggest that the action of the Russian prize court in the Arabia case was influenced by the somewhat threatening diplomatic protest. England and Germany have been making in regard to the seizure of vessels flying their flag.

The Merchant Marine Problem

The shipping men of San Francisco disagree as to the best method of building up an American ocean marine. Subsidies and bounties are most commonly suggested, but the difficulty with subsidies is that no scheme has yet been devised that will prevent the subsidies from building up monopolies and stifling legitimate competition. Bounties, on the other hand, are open to flagrant abuse and often defeat their own object. The experience of France is a striking object lesson in this particular. The French taxpayers are all the time paying French shipmasters for carrying foreign cargoes at a loss. It is needless to say that a merchant marine on that basis is a detriment instead of a benefit to a country. The American people are cheerfully willing to pay either subsidies or bounties if by doing so they can build up a legitimate ocean maritime without creating a monopolistic leech on the country.

But how to do it is the rub. As a basis we must have the maritime spirit and maritime enterprise—the incentive, the capacity and the opportunity—and then the problem is resolved into the proper method of extending the fostering aid. That method has not yet been devised.

The Sultan and the President

The American people, without division, will cordially approve the President's vigorous measures to compel Turkey to comply with her treaty engagements with this country. The contemptuous disregard of American rights exhibited by the Sultan is no longer to be endured. We cannot afford to let our national dignity to be so flouted. For several years the Ottoman autocrat has been shilly-shallying with our Government, making false promises and deceitful representations as to his intentions, until he was finally compelled to agree to pay or the injuries and property losses inflicted on American citizens in Asia Minor. He has not only neglected to make the payments agreed upon but the Turkish authorities have resumed their persecution of the American missionaries and teachers residing in Asia Minor. Where the teachers and missionaries have not been actually molested, their schools and congregations have been broken up and intercourse with the Sultan under a ban. This conduct is a studied violation of treaty engagements, and when coupled with a refusal to pay at the time agreed upon the indemnity promised as recompense for past outrages, it was an amount to bidding open defiance to the United States. The Turkish monarch has broken his word with our Government so often that it is evident he will never keep it save under compulsion. It is time compulsion was exerted. Recent events have made this particularly clear. When he understood that the battleship squadron now at Gibraltar was to sail for Constantinople, he was profuse in his promises of immediate settlement of our long overdue claims. The moment he learned that the squadron was ordered elsewhere he immediately became contumacious and refused to grant audience to the American Minister, who could obtain no satisfaction from the other functionaries of the Porte. Doubtless the Turkish Minister at Washington assured the Sultan that the President would take no active steps for the present because he is a candidate for re-election in a pending election. The Ottoman envoy is well aware that the President has been criticised for his aggressive methods and vigorous foreign policy, and though he would rather submit to a snub abroad than invoke hostile criticism. But the Oriental diplomat has mistaken both the temper of the President and the American people. The former is not a man to be bluffed or played with, and the American people are too patriotic and too considerate of the dignity of their Government to be of two minds in regard to bringing the Sultan of Turkey promptly to terms. Nothing will please his countrymen better than for President Roosevelt to literally shake the indemnity out of the Sultan's baggy trousers.

Says the San Francisco Leader: "The assassination of M. Von Pichve by a Russian anarchist seems not to have hurt the feelings of local editors to any great extent. That is strange, considering the horror in which the local editorial mind holds anarchism." Assassination is always to be deplored and condemned, but it is well not to lose sight of the fact that conditions in Russia are entirely different from those prevailing in the United States. Here every citizen can speak his mind and voice his protest against what he deems to be wrong. Every citizen can appeal to the ballot box and to the courts for redress of grievances. The courts, the press, the judiciary are free and independent—representative of the electorate, and guided by writ on laws which cannot be changed save by popular mandate. In Russia here is not free speech, free press nor a free judiciary. All law is the fiat of one man, who can change or abrogate the statutes at will. He can remove every judge in his realm without a moment's notice. The whole machinery of government is in the hands of himself and his creatures. It is not strange, therefore, that ruthless tyranny under such a system should provoke assassination. It is the logical outcome of a despotism that aims to suppress liberty in every form, and is too often subversive of the commonest fundamental rights of mankind.

It was good politics for Judge Parker to resign from the bench—provided he entertains any hope of election—but his action is, nevertheless, to be commended. It exhibits a proper respect for the ermine. While it would have subjected him to severe criticism, he could have continued to remain on the bench while being a candidate. But it would have tended to lessen popular respect for the courts, and would have set a sinister precedent. His resignation proves that while the American people may not approve of his candidacy and politics, they can at least respect him as a man.

Our Sacramento contemporary, the Bee, is informed that this paper set up no defense for either "Du Barry" or Mrs. Leske Carter's portrayal of the title part. The idea THE "TRIBUNE" intended to convey was that the play was not immoral in the sense that it made vice seductive and gave a charm to licentiousness. The play is decidedly vulgar, and must be innately offensive to decent-minded folk, because it attempts to throw the glamour of romance, religion and martyrdom over a very nasty wanton. I am poor stuff, and will cease to attract public attention all the quicker if dismissed with a passing expression of contempt. It teaches no such insidious moral as "Iris" and "For the Love of Living."

Chairman Taggart has invited Grover Cleveland to make the stump in behalf of Judge Parker. This is likely to cause a fit in both the Louisville Courier-Journal and Commoner offices. Watterson and Bryan are in entire accord in the one particular of hating the Stuffed Prophet.

Hints for the Ladies.

Among savages any thing save perfect sets of teeth is an extreme rarity, and the Eskimos, who live under the most hygienic conditions of all people, have the most perfect teeth in the world. The reason for this is fourfold: first, in the fact that they eat tough foods, such as raw meat, which require long mastication before they can be swallowed; second, in the fact that they use a long and strong mastication cleans the teeth polishes them, so that they offer few inducements to bacteria; and, third, in the fact that they have found long in the mouth to the stomach with the food, while they are speedily killed.

Where you are living in that make-believe, that lavesy o' the sea home, where children are so unwelcome—the modern flat—try the plan of hanging sheets wrung out of cold water across the top of the window sash. You've no idea, if you have never seen this, of how the atmosphere is cooled. Cold water is a great success in hot weather. An early sponge bath cools the body and promotes amability. There's plenty of soap appears on poor, hot little bodies apply cloths dipped in cold water that has a pinch of soda dissolved in it and when possible use the fine can of cold water-melon, which takes off all the stink. Put a pinch of enriched magnesia in a tumbler of water and give the babies a drink of it through the day. Always cold give them a cracked ice and fresh, sweet milk with a drop of lime water, instead of lemonade or tea.

The bathing season brings many pleasures, but a few dangers and quite frequently freckles. The girl who puts in her vacation at some watering place should not forget that for all aquatic pleasures there is a ray of reckoning. It is a great fun to lie in the sand and let sea air sunbathe the body, but when she returns to town a must appeal to a beauty doctor to remedy the wrinkles baked in her face.

Mothers really seem to be regaining the mental poise essential to fitting the clothing to the season as it goes. Every body knows that light colors were, or rather do not retain heat, as do dark ones, so the children up to about 10 for the boys and "grown up" for the girls are most sensibly dressed in white.

Sufferers from burning tender feet find great relief from sponging them overnight and morning with vinegar and water. A pill of good vinegar put into a quart bottle and filled up with water makes a useful lotion for the feet and it may be applied with a little sponge kept for the purpose.

A woman likes to jolly her husband by telling him he is working too hard.
One surprising thing about a surprise party is the lack of surprise it creates.
No woman is ever satisfied with the way another woman arranges the furniture.
Few bachelors are capable of holding a girl baby until she gets beyond the age of 16.
Splinters write the best love stories, probably because their ideas of the tender passions are imaginary.

THE SWEET SORROW OF PARTING.

"Good night," he said; the parlor light was soft and dim and low.
"Good night," he breathed again; "Good night."
It's time that I should go.
She rose and smiled into his eyes.
"Good night," he murmured, lowwise, and then, "Good night," he said.
"Good night."—Ten minutes later they were standing in the hall.
But he was on his homeward way.
"Good night"—he was so full.
Her head came heavily to his heart, and she was fair and slight.
"The hour has come for us to part," he said, "and so, good night."
"Good night!"—A half an hour had gone; he had his hat and cane.
"Good night!"—He said, "Good night!"
Then said "Good night" again.
"Good night," "Good night," "Good night," and so.
"Good night," they ever sighed; 'Twas really time for him to go.
"Good night!"—the door swung wide.
"Good night!" he said, and took her hand;
An hour or so went by;
"Good night!"—They could not understand.
The grayness of the sky.
"Good night," again and then "Good night."
Upon the steps they stood.
"Good night!"—He kissed her fingers white.
As every lover should.
"Good night!"—The eastern sky grew blue.
As though about to blush;
"Good night!"—The stars began to wink.
The breeze whispered: "Fush."
Soon on their cars they changed a knell.
That smote them with twilight.
The ringing of the breakfast bell.
That time he said "Good night!"

But I hope we can't win—
Let us pray to be successful.

But it's dangerous to do it.
For he isn't on the square."

Let us wave our hats for Parker.

ABOUT FLAMINGOES.

There are seven species of flamingoes, three of which are in America, frequenting the Bahamas, Florida and Cuba. In height the flamingo averages about five feet. If its curved neck were stretched to its full length the bird would tower above the head of an ordinary man. During May and June, the breeding time, the bird's bright-colored plumage is faded, but reassumes its most radiant hues in winter. When first hatched the young have straight bills, which, after a time, develop into a bent shape. The first plumage is grayish-white and passes through various tints of pink.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style" but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.
Balducci are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasite germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair. When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.
There is but one way to overcome trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Hairicide to the scalp every day. It kills the germs and healthy hair is sure to grow.

AN INTERESTING ENGAGEMENT.

One of the most interesting engagements which has been announced in San Francisco for many a day is that of Mrs. Josephine Morris de Greayer and Captain Rowan—pronounced with the accent on the last syllable if you please. Their meeting, courtship and engagement were as romantic as possible and, to make the matter still more of a romance, the bride holds herself in readiness to be married "any day," just when it is most convenient for the military groom. Part of the honeymoon will be passed at El Paso de Robles where the groom is to be umpire at the military maneuvers and where the bride will be a sort of Queen of Love and a new lady of the lists.

The marriage is to take place at the residence of Mr. J. O'B. Gunn, the real estate man, whose wife is an intimate friend of Mrs. de Greayer and aside from a few cut flowers and a hurried order to the caterer, will be without witnesses or éclat, on account of the uncertainty of the day. It is doubtful, even, if Mrs. de Greayer's intimate friend, Mrs. Henry K. Field, will be present, as Mrs. Field is at present on the Russian River.

There is something singularly appropriate about this marriage. There is a touch of the autumnal about it for both of the parties to it are more than forty and both have been married before. Mrs. de Greayer's first marriage was not a happy one and Captain Rowan is a widower with a growing daughter. Mrs. de Greayer has seen a great deal of sadness for she was for many years sadly overborne by a blind brother who needed much care. In spite of this she was always cheerful, often gay and merry, and she is one of the most refined women in San Francisco. Literature and clubs are her fads, and she is fond of theatrical folk—Miss Ida Conquest is an old and dear friend.

ON A SAN

JOAQUIN ISLAND.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Pierce have returned from the East and are at the Palace Hotel, where they make their home. Mrs. Pierce has not been very well, but is now better. They plan to go East again in the fall, when they will visit St. Louis in the cooler weather. Two weeks of July were spent by the Pierses at their ranch on Union Island in the San Joaquin river, where they have some of the finest Holsteins in the country. Mr. Richard M. Hotelling and Mr. Charles K. Field were their guests there, from Saturday to Monday.

MRS. RUSS TO RETURN.

Mrs. Russ, Mrs. Pierce's sister, is still in the East visiting friends. She will return to California with Mr. and Mrs. Pierce in the fall. She has disposed of her Oakland home and will henceforth make her home with her son, Dr. Raymond Russ, in San Francisco.

THE BOHEMIAN CLUB JINKS.

The Bohemian Club camp opens next week in the club's beautiful redwood grove on the Russian river, and the prospects are for as big and jolly a crowd as usual. The camp lasts for two weeks and Joseph Redding and a number of far-away Bohemians who come every year to worship at this shrine, are already in San Francisco. The author of this year's jinks is in New York and will not have the pleasure—or pain—at listening to his own line. Will Irwin wrote the lines and the whole play is built upon the tree-dryad idea. McCoy wrote the incidental music, which is said to be very good, and Dr. Jack Shiels is to be the director. Rehearsals are going on diligently, for the high and low jinks. Dick Hotelling is the principal actor in the high jinks. He is a sort of characteristic figure—a bat-like creature, with black wings, who preys upon the trees—and the rest of the play is allegorical, a mixture of pagan mythology and Christian belief. Among the principal players are Dr. Shiels, Charlie Field, Frank Deering, Jack Wilson, and Judge Melvin. There is also a large chorus.

The club's new clubhouse is to be dedicated while the camp is open. Professor Maybeck is the architect, and the building is most artistic.

GOING EAST IN SEPTEMBER.

Mr. Richard M. Hotelling, Mr. Charles K. Field and Mr. John Hausman leave for the East September 8th. After a short visit in New York and New England, they will visit the St. Louis fair and return West in October. While in St. Louis they will be guests of Miss Blanche Bates, who has taken a house there during her season in "The Darling of the Gods."

RETURNED FROM THE COUNTRY.

Mrs. C. C. Clay has returned from Burke's Sanatorium in Sonoma, where she has been resting for a few weeks.

Mrs. Lucie May Hayes has returned from two months spent at the Dunphy ranch, near Kin's City. Mr. and Mrs. George Achley and their children have returned from two months spent at Ben Lomond. They are now in San Francisco, but expect soon to move to Berkeley, where their oldest son will enter the University of California.

LITTLE DEERING'S

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deering have been receiving endless congratulations on the arrival of their little daughter, who is now two weeks old. Letters, telegrams, flowers and silver gifts, for the baby have been pouring in until their pretty home looked like Shreve's decorated for Easter week. I hear that the baby is to be christened Frank Craft, after her father and mother's family name, but is to be called Frances. She will not be christened until November, about the time of the second anniversary of the marriage of her father and mother, for the Deerings are very romantic.

Mr. and Mrs. Deering plan to spend

September at Lake Tahoe, resting and recuperating, and have plans for St. Louis in October. Little Miss Deering and her nurse will not accompany them, and the pretty new home will be left for a time in a care-taker's charge. Mrs. Deering expects to resume her place among the hostesses of the winter on her return. Last winter she is said to have given me a dinner than any other woman in San Francisco society.

GRAIN OF SALT IN SOCIETY.

In society, more, perhaps, than anywhere else, one has need of the proverbial "grain of salt." The latter is said to make you see things clearly. And if in addition you are able to say to yourself "sour grapes," you have the key to many a puzzle. You hear so often now-a-days, "Oh, I don't care for society, it's all glitter and sham anyway." There is a very strong probability that the woman who puts that sentiment into words, has tried the social smart set beyond her reach.

Even the steepest kind of climbing by way of card clubs and philanthropies will not help her to scale the ramparts. And so she tells you that neither she nor her daughters have "any use for society."

In the days of your youth you might have believed her—in the later days, you remember "that pinch of salt," and while you smile politely you say softly to yourself, "sour grapes, my dear madame."

What a wise old philosopher Aesop was in his day and generation, and what a good old fable he wrote once upon a time, when he told the story of the fox and the sour grapes.

MANY WEDDINGS

AND ENGAGEMENTS.

There are many weddings and engagements to brighten the summer days, and relieve the social monotony.

Of course the most notable wedding was that of Miss Celia Tobin and Mr. Charles W. Clark, which took place at high noon, at the home of the bride on Thursday.

If there is any very exclusive set in San Francisco it is represented by the Parrotts and Tobins.

The Parrotts have a fine family tree, notable even among the many family trees of Europe, and they have culture to go with it, and the good old family tree has the support of loads of money. Mrs. Parrott, Sr., is not the least bit of the world spoiled, her benefactions are wisely chosen, and they are most extensive—and never paraded for the admiration of the public. The Tobins represent today much of value in the exclusive smart set. Over in London Agnes Tobin has achieved fine literary recognition—her exquisite translation of Petrarch's Sonnets attracting the attention of literary Europeans.

Of course she is a fine linguist, or she could not have turned those beautiful Italian sonnets into such exquisite English, carrying the beauty and refinement of Petrarch's love sonnets to the historical Laura.

The Meynells introduced Agnes Tobin to the literary set in London, and she met many representatives of the nobility as all rich Americans do, who stay any length of time in London. The Tobin girls, Celia and Agnes, are fast friends of Mrs. Willie K. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Oelrichs, and with Miss Jennie Blair, they are only ones the New Yorkers visit when they come out here.

The Tobins can achieve social recognition in New York whenever they choose to try it, for they will have the sure backing of the Vanderbilts-Oelrichs connection.

Perhaps Celia Tobin will care to try for it now that she is Mrs. Charles W. Clark.

Senator Clark, of Montana is to bring home his young wife from abroad, and to open the splendid palace he has built in New York, so it is likely in the future, we will hear from the Clarks in the social swim both of New York and London.

WEDDING OF ### MISS TOBIN.

The wedding this week of Mr. Clark and Miss Tobin is one of the chapters of a very interesting story. The Charles W. Clarks came here from Montana some months ago, and purchased the Walter Hobart home. Mrs. Hobart was very fond of this home, but polo proved an expensive game, and there were other reverses, and the Hobarts lost their Burlington home, and also the home on Van Ness Avenue, and they went abroad.

Mrs. Charles W. Clark was an Oakland girl and she lived her very quiet life with her aunt, Mrs. Foster, who was at one time a prominent member of the Edell Club. She met Mr. Clark during a visit to Montana, and they were married there.

When the Clarks came to Burlington, Miss Celia Tobin was the intimate friend of Mrs. Clark. But for the latter, the Burlington home was not a lucky one. She was ill there, and went to New York, and the story of Mr. Clark's race across the continent to reach her, is still being told in railroad circles. But she never came back to Burlington, for the New York illness was a fatal one.

WEDDING A

QUIET ONE.

According to Miss Celia Tobin's wishes the wedding the other day was a very quiet one—a noon-day wedding with only the relatives present. One hears that the wedding gown was a gift from the bride's mother, and was a gorgeous affair, a wonderful combination of point and duchesse lace.

Very few of their friends knew that the ceremony was to take place, so most of the gifts were from the immediate relatives. All the Tobins have money, as, indeed, they will may, since the Hibernia bank, a perfect mine of wealth, is only one of their resources. Diamonds were for the most part the presents chosen by the relatives for the bride. Miss Agnes Tobin gave her sister a superb ring of turquoise and diamonds. Richard Tobin's present was a diamond cross, and Judge Tobin gave her a diamond crescent.

Mr. Charles Clark is a graduate of Yale, and a man of much culture.

His bride is one of the most accomplished girls in San Francisco, and one of the finest pianists on the Coast. One hears that they are to entertain extensively the coming season.

NEWS FROM THE HILL.

Really, the "news from the Hill," deserves a whole chapter by itself this week, it is so interesting all along the line. The most important news was, of course, the announcement this week, by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Craig, of the engagement of their daughter, Evelyn, to Mr. William L. Pattiani.

It is really not very surprising news to the Piedmont people, as Mr. Pattiani is a connection of the C. D. Gilman, who some months ago purchased "Ivy Cottage," on Hillside avenue, at Piedmont.

Mr. Pattiani has been at Piedmont a great deal this summer, and the announcement of the engagement has been expected by the friends of Miss Craig and Mr. Pattiani.

The latter is the wholesale firm of Langley, Michaels & Co., of San Francisco, and besides having achieved a great business success, one hears that he is a gentleman of much culture.

Miss Evelyn Craig is the eldest daughter of the household, and is a very pretty girl, with much executive ability, and a charming hostess. She has had the fine education which is the lot of the American girl now-a-days, and is not only an American type, but a California type of girl as well. They are really the very nicest girls in the world.

The wedding will take place this year, and the Clarks are planning a quiet home wedding, with only the relatives and intimate friends as wedding guests.

FROM THE PIEDMONT DISTRICT.

News notes center about almost every large home in the Piedmont district, and on the Hill. The Frank Havens are at Sausal Harbor, and they are spending a great deal of time in yachting. Mr. Havens having recently joined the New York Yacht Club. He named his latest yacht "The Mascotte," but it is hardly living up to its name, for it has been in two quite serious collisions and narrowly escaped going to the bottom of the Atlantic last week.

The Hinoh, Mr. Smith's new yacht, was beaten in the bay a few days ago, but there has to be a "corrected time," or "steam allowance," so it is claimed that she was really fast. The East can never stand it for the West to win out alone, any day, so I have quite made up my mind that the race was not fair.

MRS. ALLEN COMING HOME.

At the Sharon home they are making ready for the home coming of Mrs. Peter C. Allen (formerly Miss Florence Sharon). Mr. Sharon has been very ill, having been threatened with pneumonia since his return from the East, and Mrs. Mygatt, Mrs. Sharon's mother, is also ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parr have returned from Guerneville, to be here when Mrs. Allen arrives. The latter is coming to the coast with Mr. Sharon's aunt and his cousin, and the party is expected to arrive in Oakland next Sunday.

REQUAS TO GO AWAY.

At Highlands, the Requas are making preparations for their departure for Santa Barbara and Santa Monica.

The big house is to be painted and there are other improvements planned for the summer. General Long is at Highlands, and is greatly improved in health's sure return to this coast.

Mrs. J. J. Barratou, who is also home, and has opened again the big colonial home, in which she takes so much pleasure in entertaining her friends.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Correll have been at the St. Louis exposition, and Mrs. Grace Gowing has returned from Bithedale, where she was the guest of Miss Gertrude Allen.

HOMES OPEN FOR THE FALL.

The many homes "on the hill" are being opened since people are coming home from the mountains and from the seashore. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walsh have returned from Rowdennan, and their children arrived this week from Applegate, where they were sent for the vacation days. The Walshes are planning a trip to the St. Louis exposition in September.

The new home on the Hill of the Beach-Soules is approaching completion, and Mr. and Mrs. Soule are busy these days choosing all sorts of artistic furnishings. It bids fair to be one of the very pretty homes for which the hill is now famous.

Miss Gertrude Gould has returned to her home at Linda Vista, and very few Oakland girls have been so extensively entertained across the bay as she has been.

Baron von Horst gave a dinner last week, and among his guests were Miss Gertrude Gould and Miss Viva Nicholson.

Miss Gould is a very pretty girl, of the brunette order. She sings delight-

STRATTONS HAVE RETURNED.

Hon. and Mrs. Frederick Stratton and Mrs. Cornelia Stratton returned to town recently after some weeks spent in the Sierras. Miss Cornelia Stratton and Miss Marion Walsh will resume college work this year, and will be sophomores at the University.

BACK FROM VACATIONS.

One by one people are returning to town. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watt have returned from a trip East and to the St. Louis Exposition.

Doctor and Mrs. P. L. Wheeler and their children have returned to their home on Madison street, after a pleasant month spent at Tahoe Tavern. Mrs. Wheeler had as her guest, her nephew, Mr. Safford of Boston, and one of his college chums.

The Schindlers arrived at Tahoe Tavern, and so on the McKees.

Miss Eleanor Davenport has gone to Independence Lake, to spend a month, and Miss Marion Gould fellow has joined her there. Miss Gould fellow recently made a tour of the Orient, chaperoned by Mrs. Davenport.

The Davenports are building a beautiful home on Pacific Avenue in which they expect to entertain extensively this season.

LUKENS HOME CLOSED.

The Lukens have closed their home on Jackson street this summer, and are spending the summer for the most part in Siskiyou county. Mrs. Masser and her children are comfortably established in a picturesque bungalow near the Lukens home. Mr. Russell Lukens is in St. Louis at the Exposition.

CALIFORNIANS IN EUROPE.

Interesting news comes of well known Californians in Europe. Rudolph Spreckels' friends have been much worried about him, for he has been very ill of appendicitis in Europe. One always fancies there is much more danger in an illness abroad, though, as a matter of fact, the leading specialists of the world are in Europe. Mrs. Rudolph Spreckels was formerly Miss Nellie Jolliffe, and she is the niece of Mrs. Matthews, of Webster street. Her sister, Mrs. Herbert Moffitt, formerly Marguerite Jolliffe, spent months at a time at the Matthews home, and so the Jolliffes are quite well known over here. They are all beautiful girls, and even when she made every stitch of her own clothes, Miss Nellie Jolliffe used to be one of the best dressed girls in San Francisco. Since she married Rudolph Spreckels she has grown galore, and she has been very good to her younger sisters. Through her influence, they are very prominent socially, and the Misses Frances and Virginia Jolliffe are among the best known girls in society across the bay.

QUESTION OF A QUEEN.

Oakland society people are discussing the question of leadership. It is thought by some of the "quality" across the bay that somebody should be appointed arbiter to separate the sheep from the goats. But how to go about choosing a queen they do not know. In Newport, Mrs. Astor is the recognized queen, but she assumed the role, and nobody has ever disputed her claims to leadership. But in Oakland there is no woman whose superior qualifications are generally acknowledged. Some of the women who have been suggested are Mrs. Tom Magee, Mrs. Will Magee, Mrs. Taft, Mrs. Long, Mrs. Requa and Mrs. Butters. It is said that Mrs. Jane Sather would be eminently qualified were it not for the fact that she is reported to have referred to the women of Ebell as "rabble."—Town Talk.

BACK FROM DENVER.

Miss Evelyn May Adams and Mrs. Walter F. Adams have returned from a visit to relatives in Denver.

MISS PERKINS' CURICS.

Miss Mae Perkins collected some fine curios during her two years' sojourn in the Orient. She brought them home in fourteen huge trunks, and it required all the finesse for which she is famous to get them safely through the custom house. The treasures were exhibited for the first time at a dinner given last Sunday night to some naval officers and their wives at the Perkins residence in Piedmont. The guests of honor on that occasion were Admiral and Mrs. Whiting. Paintings by Japanese artists were given as souvenirs.—Town Talk.

SUMMER SCHOOL IS AT AN END.

The summer school is at an end, and this week the nine hundred students take their departure from Berkeley. Some of the distinguished instructors who came from abroad have not hesitated to express their disappointment. The climate was all that had been represented—you can work all through the summer months at Berkeley. But the instructors from abroad were not prepared for the large number of women students in their classes, and they expected a warmer reception from the professors of the University and Stanford. Instead of that, they found themselves going the quiet tenor of their various ways, doing the work for which they were paid. And now they are folding up their tents and taking their departure, quite like ordinary mortals. Of course, they have been here in vacation days, so it is not fair to judge conditions.

Anyway, Californians are busy people, and they are not in the least worshipping.

WILL ENTERTAIN AT THE BEND.

However, Regent Charles S. Wheeler is to entertain some of the distinguished visitors at "The Bend," his country home on the McCloud river. The Wheelers entertain large house parties each year at "The Bend," where there is fine hunting and splendid fishing. "The Bend" grows more popular each year, for Mrs. Wheeler thoroughly understands presiding over a country home in the mountains. Short skirts and shirtwaists are the costumes prescribed, and you must be down for the seven o'clock breakfast.

Each year President and Mrs. Wheeler are guests at "The Bend." Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wheeler have recently returned from the East, and next week their guest list will include the Benjamin Ide Wheelers, Professor Gummere, of Harvard University, Professor Albert Stanley, Professor Henry Morse Stephens, and August Arrhenius. The latter is one of Sweden's most distinguished instructors.

Professor Stanley comes from Wisconsin, and he has given a great impetus to music on this coast by his magnificent lectures, especially along the line of classic operas.

Hunting and fishing trips have been arranged and the distinguished visitors will have a good impression of picturesque California.

MANY AUTO EXPEDITIONS.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Magee have been making some very pleasant automobile expeditions this year, and on some of the trips they have entertained Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tobin. They have also been guests at the Tobin country home, "Arcadia," near Napa. Mrs. Tobin looked very lovely at the wedding of Miss Celia Tobin on Thursday. She wore the most exquisite lace gown, a gown of all over lace, set off with a wide picture hat in lace effects.

With the Joe Tobins was Miss Ethel Barrymore, who is rapidly recovering from her throat affection in the balmy air of Napa. She is an old time friend of the Tobins, and is their guest at Arcadia. Miss Barrymore's gown at the Tobin wedding was also of white lace, and with the gown she wore a wide picture hat of black lace, trimmed with ostrich tips.

GOODALLS ARE BACK.

Captain and Mrs. Edwin Goodall and Doctor and Mrs. Charles Minor Cooper, formerly Miss Ella Goodall, have returned to their home on Jackson street, after a pleasant sojourn at Blithedale.

MARY BARKER TO MARRY THIS MONTH.

The wedding of Wallace Alexander and Miss Mary Barker is set for August 15th, and much to the regret of many friends, it is to be a quiet wedding. But the Barkers could not possibly include all their friends, and they could never in the world draw any line, so just relations are to be present.

Miss Barker will have as her maid of honor, Miss Jane Rawlings, and Mr. Alexander will be attended by his cousin, Mr. Will Cooke.

Miss Barker would not accept any of the complimentary affairs which her friends wished to offer her, and, indeed, there would have been no end to them, since the Barkers have such a wide circle of friends.

Mrs. Alexander returned from Honolulu to be present at the wedding of her son, but Mr. Alexander is still in South Africa. He intends not only to visit the leading towns, such as Cape Town and Johannesburg, but to penetrate to the interior. Of course, the interior of Africa, the region of the bush, is always a dangerous proposition, and perhaps that is wherein most of its fascination lies.

Wallace Alexander and his bride are to make their home this winter across the bay.

But in the early spring they are planning to return here, where they have so many mutual interests.

They are both much interested in philanthropic work, Miss Barker is a very valuable member of the Woman's Exchange, and an earnest worker therein. S. T. Alexander built the fine Settlement building on Third street, and Miss Barker has been Miss Ethel Moore's valuable assistant in developing the work there.

One of the very prominent young men's clubs in the city is the "Aloha Club," of Peralta street, founded mainly through the influence of Wallace Alexander.

Good musical programs used to be a feature each week at the Settlement and among the participants were always Miss Ethel Kittredge, Miss Jane Rawlings, and Miss Mary Barker. Miss Rawlings is a good pianist, and Miss Mary Barker plays exceedingly well on the violin. Neither Miss Barker nor Mr. Alexander cares a great deal for just average society events, so it is likely their interests in the future will center about philanthropic activities.

MATHEWS AT PACIFIC GROVE.

Mrs. Walter Mathews and the Misses Pauline and Hope Mathews are at Pacific Grove, where the family has a cottage for the summer. Late in the autumn they expect to go to St. Louis, to spend some days at the exposition.

HORTON SCHOOL TO REOPEN.

The Horton school is to reopen on Monday, and Miss Horton has so far recovered from her recent illness as to be able to preside over the school as of old.

The private schools of California are rapidly forging to a front. They are all so prosperous that they can afford a large number of instructors, and each school this year is presenting a strong faculty roll.

The Horton school is accredited at the State University, at Stanford, at Wellesley, and other leading Eastern schools and colleges.

COOLS TO GIVE A HOUSE PARTY.

Dr. and Mrs. Russe' Cool are planning a large house party to spend the week at Dotswood, their picturesque country home in the hills near Los Gatos. Among their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Jacobs, of San Francisco, who will go down to Los Gatos in their automobile. The Cools have also a new automobile, in which they make frequent trips between San Francisco and Los Gatos.

Among the new automobiles in Oakland is a new Rambler owned by Aaron Brock, who makes his home with the Clays at Level Lea. Mr. Brock is an expert driver, and takes long trips through the country, accompanied by friends. The Rambler is a fine hill climber, just the sort of a machine for mountain trips. Herbert Thomson drove a Rambler one evening last week making the time from Oakland to Antioch inside of four hours. The party took the hill road back of Berkeley, by way of Orinda Park, and they report a very good road, and a picturesque drive.

The party drove to Antioch in the evening, spending the night there, and the next day visiting Byron Springs and the surrounding country.

Many of the automobilists are preparing to attend the big automobile meet at Monterey, the latter part of this month.

TOURISTS BACK FROM TRIP.

The Mariposa came in on Monday bringing safely back the merry crowd of tourists who went down to Tahiti. They were there for the celebration of the Fall of the Bastille, and it was a grand affair, as the island is a French possession. The trip of the Mariposa showed a long list of good times, and it was a most successful trip in many ways. Among the passengers were the Sperrys of San Francisco, and the J. Walter Scotts, of East Oakland.

Mrs. Scott is to entertain informally on next Thursday for Miss Florence Brown, the attractive fiancée of Dr. William S. Porter.

About thirty friends have been invited, and a pleasant 'Tahiti afternoon' will afford them much enjoyment.

STRANGERS WITHIN OUR GATES.

The strangers within our gates have been the motif for the most interesting gatherings of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ross have been in Oakland on their wedding trip, and they have been entertained at dinners and luncheons innumerable. Mr. and Mrs. Jagers, formerly Miss Klein, are here also, and they have been much entertained both at Berkeley and Claremont.

Miss Guernsey is sending the entire summer with her aunt, Mrs. John T. Wright, and informs affairs, such as thimble bees and luncheons have been given in her honor. Mrs. Thomas Phibby, Jr., entertained for her cousin, Miss Guernsey, and the guests played an exceedingly interesting game of "bridge." Every one is learning "bridge" this summer, and it bids fair to quite supplant "five hundred" in popular favor during the coming season.

Miss Helen Chase is bringing home several school friends, for whom, of course, there will be entertainment. Miss Chase loves nothing better than to entertain Eastern guests, and the Chase family are seldom alone.

One summer, Miss Chase entertained a large house party of school friends, in the old family home at Eastport, Maine.

TOWERS ARE COMING.

Among the passengers on the Deutschland were Sellamy Storron, American Ambassador to Austria Hungary, and Charlemagne Tower, American Ambassador to Germany. Both Mr. and Mrs. Tower by the way, are expected in old Oakland, the home of the Ambassador's wife. Mrs. Tower has been credited with giving Uncle Sam the most brilliant social representation he has ever known at the German court, says Town Talk. It has, indeed, been so no able a character that the representatives of other great powers have seemed modest by comparison. No one who knows what a powerful adjunct to diplomacy hospitality contributes in a glittering capital will deny that America is fortunate in having in "Kaiserstadt" so experienced and accomplished a hostess as Mrs. Tower, who alone of our "Ambassadors" enjoys the distinction of having represented her country at three great European capitals in succession—Vienna, St. Petersburg and Berlin. When the Towers were at St. Petersburg it was common rumor that they spent two hundred thousand a year "keeping America's end up." In Berlin they have been the envy of the diplomatic corps. They occupy for an embassy the famous Pringheim granite palace. As we expect our Ambassadors and Ministers to foot their own bills, none of our representatives in Berlin before the appointment of Tower had ever been able to afford anything but hotel apartments. Mrs. Tower's most brilliant function, one that made the capital rix with her fame, was a dinner party in honor of Emperor William in December last, when the Kaiser for the first time in the history of American diplomatic representation in Germany, "set foot on American soil," as he expressed it.

WAS SHE ONLY A TYPEWRITER.

It will be interesting to get from the strenuous here, Jere Lynch, his version of that little scene on board the Deutschland, the details of which were singularly contradictory, as recounted by the dailies, says Town Talk. From the two versions at hand it is difficult to determine whether Jere had a mistress aboard ship or merely a flirtation with the pretty wife of a distinguished Spaniard. The New York dailies gave the sensational affair a great deal of space, and according to their version the woman involved was from Amsterdam, and was Mr. Lynch's companion on the voyage. Mr. Lynch's friends in this city are so content of his rectitude that they say she could not have been his companion in any immoral capacity. They think it very likely that she was his typewriter, for Jere is a literary genius and it is not improbable that, during the trip, he was dashing off another work on Egypt, or a treatise on the looseness of morals in Paris.

MRS. MEIN AND THE POLICE.

Oakland society has been treated to a delicious bit of gossip as a result of the controversy between Mrs. Thomas Mein and the Chief of Police. Mrs. Mein enjoys a unique distinction in Oakland's smart set, and when it was learned that a servant had robbed her of napkins worth forty dollars per dozen, and some priceless hat crowns, everybody was interested. Mrs. Mein's picture hats have long been the envy of Oakland's fashionable women, and at the theatre they usually attract more attention than the performance.—Town Talk.

AT THE MAGEE RANCH.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Magee are still at the Magee ranch, in the hills back of Fruitvale, and Mrs. Magee has made her friends very welcome there this summer. It is a perfectly delightful place, with a big swimming pool, which is the joy of relatives and friends.

Last week Mrs. Magee gave a luncheon at the ranch in honor of Mrs. Oscar Long. The guests came in outing costumes, which were both effective and becoming. Mrs. Long was in pink—a shiny, silk-like effect—the dearest glagham gown imaginable. The hostess was in blue, and Miss Florence Hush was in white.

An elaborate luncheon menu was served, and the guests were Mrs. Mark Requa, Mrs. Alexander Baldwin, who was formerly Jessie Glascock; Mrs. Edson Adams, Miss Florence Hush, Mrs. Andrew Moseley, Mrs. Card and Mrs. Edward Lacey Drayton. The guests met at Emeryville, and were driven over to the ranch. After luncheon there was a delightful walk, and later in the afternoon there was swimming in the big pool, and the event was full of merriment. Next week Mrs. Will Magee will entertain again at luncheon in honor of Mrs. Charles Minor Cooper, formerly Miss Ella Goodall.

BIRTHDAY LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Will Magee also entertained this week at a birthday luncheon, in honor of the birthday of Mr. Walter Hush.

The young people were invited to the ranch, where there was a jolly luncheon and afterwards an informal picnic, chaperoned by Mrs. Magee and Miss Florence Hush. The guests at the birthday luncheon were the Misses Madeline Clay, Beulah and Gladys Brigham, the Misses Harold, Alice and Lecher Albright, Grayson Hincley, Amy Dinkelspiel, Arthur Dalton, Valentine and Walter Hush.

A big birthday cake graced the feast. It carried the traditional candles and there were favors, of course.

Fate sent the ring to Miss Gladys Brigham, the heart to Miss Amy Dinkelspiel, the ten-cent piece to Miss Brigham, and the thimble to Miss Madeline Clay.

But every one knows that the last "token" could never by any possibility come true. The guests had a merry afternoon and took their departure feeling that the birthday luncheon had been a grand success.

MRS. HUSH IN POOR HEALTH.

Mrs. Valentine Hush has not been well at all this summer and has been away for some weeks at Doctor Burke's Sanatorium. Mrs. Tom Magee has been with her mother for the past three weeks and will return with her early next week as Mrs. Hush is so much better. The Tom Magees and Miss Florence Hush will probably go to Del Monte for the automobile meet there, this month.

MRS. CLAY TO GO EAST.

Mrs. C. C. Clay and Miss Madeline Clay will leave for the East early in October. They will visit the Harden Crawfords at their country home at Seabright and Mrs. Clay will place her daughter Madeline at school in New York.

MISS COPE TO GO TO NEW YORK.

Miss Georgie Cope is planning also to go to New York for the coming winter, to go on with her musical studies there. Since the splendid production of "The Gipsy" planned and carried out by Miss Cope, her friends have known that she would succeed along musical lines if she devoted time and attention to the work.

MAX TAFT IN NEW YORK.

Max Taft has reached New York where he has been joined by his father Mr. H. C. Taft.

Mrs. Taft and her daughters have been all summer at Danville, where Mrs. Taft's sister lives and they have much enjoyed their summer with their relatives. They are planning to return to this coast early in the autumn.

HUBBARDS ARE GOING AWAY.

Mrs. Charles and Mrs. Samuel Hubbard are going to Byron Springs for a few days. Mr. Samuel Hubbard has been ill, and it is hoped that the milder air of Byron Springs may be beneficial.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Hubbard are entertaining a great deal in a quiet way, in their pretty new home on the hill. They will have as their guest this autumn, Miss Katherine Bell of Milwaukee. Mrs. Will Hubbard was formerly MISS FLORENCE BROWN, WHO WILL BE GUEST OF HONOR AT THE TAHITIAN AFTERNOON PLANNED BY MRS. J. WALTER SCOTT.

Miss Peck of Milwaukee and her mother's home there is among the most prominent in the city.

SCHOOLS OPEN ON MONDAY.

The opening of the schools on Monday has brought almost all the prominent families back to town and the streets again are full of life, and one is meeting old-time friends and neighbors. In a few days more, card clubs will be re-organized, and the social life will go on as of old. But everyone has had a rest and each one is ready for the many social duties of what promises to be a busy season—and a happy one, too.

THE MEDDLER.

OLDEST IN THE COUNTY. Mr. A. McCreath, the genial proprietor of the Caledonian Canning and Dye Works has the distinction of being the oldest man in Alameda county. This business was established in 1857, and has met with public favor continuously. Mr. McCreath is well connected with different fraternal organizations in Alameda county, and retains the distinction of being the owner of good driving horses. Two expert drivers are kept busy at the main works at 811 San Pablo avenue. Mr. McCreath claims the distinction of having the only dye works that does its own work in the county.

RETURN FROM YOSEMITE. Mrs. W. J. Bond of East Oakland has returned home after having spent a delightful month at Yosemite. She was accompanied by her mother, the Rev. C. Gilbert Smith of Woodland and together they visited all the places of interest in the valley, as well as noted points of the high Sierras. She brings with her many beautiful sketches which she made, illustrations of their wonderful region.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED. Mr. and Mrs. R. Gordon announce the engagement of their daughter Rebecca to Harry Lesser. They will receive Sunday, August 21, from 2 to 5 p. m. at 1507 Geary street, San Francisco.

ARE AT PACIFIC GROVE. Mrs. Walter Mathews and daughters, Miss Pauline and Hope, have a cottage at Pacific Grove.

IS VISITING FRIENDS. Mrs. Dr. Kerling, sister of Iron, Frank Stephens, Mayor of Iowa City, is visiting Dr. Lu Ella Walker.

MISS GEORGIA STUTT WHO IS SPENDING THE SUMMER AT SACRAMENTO AS THE GUEST OF HER AUNT.

FRIENDS OF SUPERVISOR MITCHELL HOLD AN ENTHUSIASTIC RALLY AT ALDEN.

At Pizola Hall, in the First Ward, last night, there was a heartfelt reception in honor of John Mitchell, candidate for the Republican nomination of Supervisor to succeed himself, and a fervid resolve on the part of hundreds of friends of that gentleman to do all in their power at the primaries, next Tuesday, to secure his renomination in the ensuing county convention of the Republican party.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM.

A more enthusiastic meeting could not have been desired. It lacked nothing to show that Mr. Mitchell fully satisfied the people of that district that he was the man for the place. This conclusion was reached after a consideration of the long residence of Mr. Mitchell in the district; the honorable, if humble start which the gentleman had in life; the success which had rewarded his patient toil and energy; his election to the office of supervisor, the good he had done for the county, the aid he had given the poor, the reduction to eight hours a day's labor of employees of the county, and, finally, the practical unanimity of the people of the district that he be returned to the position of supervisor, in which, during the past eight years, he had labored so well and earnestly.

RECORD APPRECIATED.

Each of these points was brought out by the speakers and so self-evident was its truth that it evoked the heartiest applause of the auditors.

There was no applause for the sake of applauding. Demonstration was made only when it was called for by the expression of some patent truth and then, the speakers were given time during the plaudits, to indulge in rhetorical and restful pauses.

ENTHUSIASM WITHOUT.

Before the gathering a bonfire blazed in front of the hall at the intersection of Shattuck and Telegraph avenues, and the Eagle Bugle and Drum Corps played live music in a most enlivening manner.

MARSHALLED HOSTS.

Just before the exercises began, a company of young men, 100 strong, wearing cards on their hats and red ribbons on their breasts, bearing the name of John Mitchell, entered the hall. They were accompanied by the Eagle Bugle and Drum Corps and a company of little boys in khaki uniforms from the Home of the Ladies' Aid Society. Then Supervisor Mitchell himself entered, and his appearance was the signal for round after round of applause.

SONS OF TOIL.

The auditors in the room were sons of toil, who had put in a hard day's work, but there was not one of them who did not evince the greatest pleasure in adding the man who had been their friend and the friend of the people to regain the position in which he had been a credit no less to himself than to the district.

CALLED TO ORDER.

The meeting was called to order by M. E. Stetson, who said: "This meeting has been called for the purpose of introducing to you John Mitchell, who is a candidate for supervisor, and John A. Bliss, who is a candidate for the assembly. Whom will you select for chairman?"

A man in the crowd said "John Stetson."

Ex-Judge Stetson was elected by acclamation.

Kirk Geary was then appointed a committee of one to escort ex-Judge Stetson to the chair.

THE CHAIRMAN.

The judge was received with cheers, and on taking the chair, said:

"I was rather surprised to be called tonight to preside over this meeting. As I understand it, this is a meeting of Republicans preliminary to the primaries, which are to be held next Tuesday, where the will of the people will be expressed. Let me thank you for the honor you have conferred on me in selecting me to this position, because I consider it an honor. I suppose the issue before us at this time is largely the choice of candidates. I understand that the tickets for the different district offices are made, and as usual, the determination will be a closely contested proposition. We can rest assured that whatever the result is, will be the right thing for the community.

SUPERVISOR JOHN MITCHELL.

CITY AUDITOR A. W. BREED.

GUY C. EARL.

TEDDY JOST SPEAKS.

Teddy Jost was the next speaker introduced by Chairman Stetson. He spoke as follows:

"It gives me great pleasure to be here and address you in behalf of a man who deserves support. That man is Supervisor John Mitchell, who aspires for re-election.

"It was not more than a year and a half or two years ago that I stood in this very same hall and spoke on another occasion. I told the voters of this district that if they voted for Governor George C. Pardee they would never regret it. I don't think that you ever have, for Governor Pardee has made one of the best governors the State of California has ever had.

"I say to you tonight that if you vote for John Mitchell for Supervisor you will never regret it. In the past his record has been such that his constituents may well be proud of him. In the future, I am safe in guaranteeing that his conduct will be such that we may still feel proud of him.

MITCHELL'S RECORD.

"When John Mitchell became Supervisor, the first thing that he did was to introduce the eight-hour law for the county employees. The workingmen of this county owe him a debt of gratitude. The best way for them to pay it is at the polls. The time is now ripe, and when we go to the polls on Tuesday next, we workingmen should show that we appreciate our friends by casting our ballots for the man who has done so much for us.

"When the citizens of this community voted to go into the city of Oakland, they assumed the responsibility of being a part and a parcel of the city government. If you have not good roads now it is not Supervisor Mitchell's fault. When he did have control of the roads in this district, he had good roads and the men did not have to work more than eight hours a day.

KNOW MITCHELL'S HISTORY.

"The candidate who is seeking to secure Mr. Mitchell's place on the Board of Supervisors is a good man. But he is not tried and true. We know Mitchell to be, and for that reason we should stay by the man we know. His opponent has not lived among us. He is not one of us. His right to be elected to the Board of Supervisors has not yet been established. He seeks to appease a man who has done his work for the people faithfully and well. I think that he will fail in that. At least, let us hope so and let us work for the election of the man who for many years has been our friend and neighbor."

HONESTY AND ABILITY.

After Mr. Jost had spoken, Chairman Stetson said that every one of his hearers had their opinion regarding the candidate, and continued, saying:

"I must say, for myself, that he have here men who are entitled, by virtue of duty well performed, to your consideration. This district is fortunate in the men whom it has honored. Senator Earl, Senator Lukens, Assemblyman Bliss, and Supervisor Mitchell have performed the duties of their several offices not only with honesty, but with signal ability. I trust that the men whom you are to vote for will be voted for for valid reasons, and not because of impulse. It is true they have been criticized, but that is only what ought to have been expected. All sorts of devices have been at times resorted to for the purpose of putting men out of office, simply because they have been in office, and because somebody wants to get into their places. I think that it is your wish and desire that that class of candidates should be rejected."

SENATOR EARL.

Former Senator Earl was then called on to address the meeting. He paid a high tribute to the character of Mr. Mitchell and predicted his success at the polls on Tuesday next. He said:

"It certainly is a great pleasure to me to see so many persons here tonight. It is a fine testimonial to the worth of Supervisor Mitchell. I take it that his friends are here for if you were not, you would not come and lend your support to him in this manner.

"It is with the people that the fate of Mr. Mitchell or any other person who seeks political preferment lies. In democratic America it is the people who are rulers. In foreign countries the favor is asked of the prince, king or other potentate. In America the voter is asked the favor. It is his suffrages which determine the fate of all aspirants for office. The American voter is sovereign and it is to his will that all must bend. In this country, one man is as powerful politically as another. We are here tonight in the capacity of royal Americans and it is for us to exercise our princely prerogatives. We are to determine whom we shall send to the Board of Supervisors for the next four years. It is a weighty question and is one which we should weigh well before deciding upon. Now from among the aspirants to that office who among all the candidates do you think is the most deserving of your suffrage? (Chorus of voices, John Mitchell.)"

SPEAKS FOR ALL.

"I think that you all will agree with me that if I tell you the reason why I think that John Mitchell should be returned to his position of trust it will express your sentiments also. We are all aware that Mr. Mitchell did not achieve the prominence he occupies in this county through the channel of riches. His beginning in a world was not made through wealth. His parents were poor and the benefits of an education such as many of us enjoy were not his. He went to work in a shoe factory in West Berkeley. He proved himself a dutiful son, a good brother and protector of his family. He gave to those dependent upon him sustenance and what was better, he saw to it that his brothers and sisters had an education. He sacrificed his opportunities of education that he might prove himself a good son and a good brother. It is such a man as this, that we need as Supervisor. His career is a lesson in itself. Any man who can work his way from the position of a humble shoe factory hand to the position of chairman of the Board of Supervisors is not an undervalued man.

HIS DOMESTIC LIFE.

"For thirty years his life has been an open book for you to read. Like a good American citizen he has taken unto himself a wife and has reared a family among you. As a husband and father, and I happen to know much of his domestic life, he has been a model. Those who know of his life can't go wrong in once more returning him to his position of trust.

"As I have said, when Mr. Mitchell first went to the Board of Supervisors he was a mechanic. He put himself under the guidance of that stalwart man, Supervisor Talcott, to whom all honor is due. He partook of Mr. Talcott's wisdom and learned much. He studied hard until eventually your shoe boy became the chairman of the Board of Supervisors, a position that he has filled with exceptional ability. His record of eight years is a good one. He has nothing to be ashamed of in it. Neither has his constitution. His service has fitted him to still be of greater service to the county and to this section. His record affords us a substantial basis to return him to the office. If we decide tonight to send him back then let us exercise our rights as American citizens and cast our ballots for him. Let each man act and let him get his friends to act.

NOTHING AGAINST OPONENT.

"While I have nothing against his opponent, let us examine their respective records. Mr. Mitchell has been among you for thirty years. His opponent has been among you for one year. Thirty years and one year. Let his opponent live among us long enough that we may become acquainted with him before he apires to office. Let us know who he is. He asks the voters in this district to drive from office a man who has been here with us for thirty years. I do not believe that the voters will do it.

"I predict that on Tuesday next that the voters will tell the story according to the manner of the candidate's desert."

Mr. Mitchell will not be driven from office by an interloper but will be carried forward to a glorious victory. (Great applause.)

WILLIAM JONES.

William Jones was called on next and spoke as follows:

"I must say that I am no orator, but I do claim to be a good Republican. I believe in placing in position men whom we can trust. I know one man a great many years and you couldn't cast your ballot for a better man than John Mitchell. (Applause.) I do surrender to John Mitchell and not without good will. You will never regret voting for him." (Cheers.)

SUPERVISOR MITCHELL.

When Supervisor Mitchell was called on for a speech by Chairman Stetson there was deafening applause. It lasted several minutes. When order was restored, Mr. Mitchell spoke as follows:

"From the applause given me I think I would be safe in saying that I have a friend or two left in this district and the reports that all had gone over to the other camp are not true. Of course, you must take the statement that they have captured this district with a grain of salt. To see if that is true I will recall to you the fact that the first time I ran in this district, I was elected by a majority of 185. The second time I ran I was elected by 1,855 votes. When a man is elected, he is apt to remember the majority he received. If he is defeated he is sure to remember the other fellow's majority."

NAILS CAMPAIGN LIE.

"Before I proceed much further, I want to correct a statement which has been circulated about me. You cannot expect your enemies to circulate the truth about you, so it is in order to nail a lie when you come across one. It has been stated that I am not a friend of the working man. That is a lie. It has been stated that I would not put a 'damned labor union man' on the Election Boards. Well, I put ninety-six there and among them are Charles Clark, president of the Carpenters' union, I put others there who are now occupying offices or departments. I made no distinctions. I did not put laboring men on the Election Boards whom did I put? Did you see any names of doctors there? Did you see the name of a lawyer? Did you see the name of a merchant? Over three-fourths, yes, ninety percent of the men that I put on the Election Board had union cards in their pockets and yet they say that I am not a friend of labor."

EIGHT-HOUR LAW.

"When I was first elected, the men employed by the county were working nine hours a day. I at once demanded that the hours be reduced to eight hours. I was told that this would never do. I persevered and was finally able to get the measure through. I have been a working man myself and I know what a day's labor is. Today there is not a man employed by the county who is working more than eight hours a day. I believe in the theory of eight hours' work, eight hours' sleep and eight hours' recreation. I have sought to bring that condition about. Yet they say that I am not the friend of the laboring man."

"If I have not shown that I was a steadfast friend of labor how shall I show it? I have obtained dozens of positions for carmen and others. It has been a pleasure for me to do it. I have always been happy to be able to use the position of Supervisor in obtaining a position for carmen and others. Yet I have heard some of those whom I have helped state that I was not the friend of labor. Is that fair?"

COUNTY'S GREATNESS.

"Since I have been a Supervisor, Alameda county has achieved the proud distinction of having the finest roads of any county in California. That is something to be proud of. There is another thing which I would like to call your attention to and that is the condition of the County Infirmary. It is second to no institution in the United States. It is finely equipped throughout. It has the finest appliances and medical attendance in the State. That is as it should be. The County Infirmary is the home of the poor. It is the place where the workingman can find rest when sickness and misfortune overwhelms him. That they should have fine appointments seems to me is right.

UNFAIR CRITICISM.

"There has been much criticism of the County Infirmary. It was groundless. One San Francisco paper had great flaring headlines in which it announced that the county's money had been ill invested. This was false. A Grand Jury selected by the Superior Judges made a thorough examination and pronounced everything to be as it should. You should read that Grand Jury report. I am afraid people sometimes read the headlines in the newspapers but fail to read such dry stuff as a Grand Jury report. But they should. If you decide that you want me to serve you again as a Supervisor, I will promise to do my duty faithfully and well, as I have in the past." (Prolonged applause.)

HUGH DOLAN.

Hugh Dolan, when called upon, declined to make a speech. He told instead some funny stories which caused quite an amount of hearty laughter.

CHARLES E. SNOOK.

Mr. Snook was enthusiastically cheered and said:

"Tonight I recognize the fact that we are among our friends. I believe you will bear witness when I say that this district has in John Mitchell, one of the best Supervisors of Alameda county. I want to say to those of you who do not know him as I do, that when I was District Attorney, I came almost daily into contact with him and I know how he served the people. I want to say to you that John Mitchell always tried his best to do his duty to his constituents and what man can do more? I know that he has been criticized some, but I'd like to know what public officer ever lived out his term without criticism. He might be the most honest and most able man in the world but still he could not satisfy all of his critics."

EXPERIENCE.

"For the position of Supervisor, you should determine whether the man who is running for office has had the experience which a man in that office should have."

COUNTY'S IMPORTANCE.

"This county has grown in a few years to be one of the greatest counties in the State. She has now the Governor of the State. She has Congressman Metcalf in the President's Cabinet. She has Senator Perkins as a United States Senator. This shows that the county has aroused something of interest not only in the State but also in the nation. We have come to full manhood in our growth. We should look about us to determine whether the candidate is a people-man. John Mitchell has made his way not from the halls of riches, but by plodding along by patient labor and by the sweat of his brow. We expect to give him our hearty support and I shall challenge anyone to say that he has not nobly done his duty."

KNOW HIS RECORD.

"You have heard him discussed and you know his record. You know what he has accomplished and you know that what he will do will be best imagined from what he has done and we know you will send him back again because we know you are desirous of appreciating the work and rewarding the efforts of your capable public servants."

AUDITOR BREED SPEAKS.

City Auditor Arthur H. Breed was then called on to make a few remarks. He spoke as follows:

"Gentlemen of the First Ward—I wish to state that I have known Mr. Mitchell ever since he has been Supervisor and during that time I know he has done his level best. He has been an efficient official and one who, if the performance of duty counts for aught, should be returned to the Board of Supervisors. I think that it is a duty that the voters of this section owe to him as well as to themselves. I trust that on Tuesday next you will all find your way to the polls and vote yourself and get your friends to vote. I hope that the delegates favorable to Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Bliss will be elected."

HANRAHAN SPEAKS.

Michael Hanrahan was the next speaker. "I have known Mr. Mitchell," he said, "to be a competent official and he deserves re-election at the hands of the people whom he has served well. He has never failed the people. I would like to ask just one question of you."

AWAIT ACTION OF BOARD OF EDUCATION WITH REGARDS TO PLANS

SAN FRANCISCO Aug 5 1904
Editor TRIBUNE Oakland Cal.
Dear Sir: The architectural profession is watching with interest the Oakland Board of Education.

In this matter we are guided by that road principle that brought into being the late competition for the State University and had hoped that the seed has been sown in the city so that the trend of public opinion is in that direction as we see in receipt of many "memoranda" from both school boards and citizens on that subject.

The enclosed copy of one of them is a sample of them all. It is a copy of a resolution adopted by your city of July 10th. Please allow me to call your attention to the very sensible and reasonable stand you have taken in this matter. Everything you have stated is true as gospel and I hope it will have more influence than the gospel itself has in this case.

WORLD OF WEALTH IN MAGNETITE DEPOSITS IN LIVERMORE HILLS.

The development of what is believed to be one of the largest magnetite deposits in the world, situated in the Livermore mountains, is about to be undertaken. The mineral is used in the manufacture of fire bricks for locomotives, millers, furnaces and boilers of all kinds, and the company which has secured control of these mines proposes to go into competition with the people now furnishing the world with this material from Greece. The quality of the mineral here is said to be excellent and a large amount of Eastern capital is behind the project, which means much for Livermore and Oakland, as extensive plans for the manufacture of the product into bricks will be established here.

SECURE PROPERTY. The deeds for the transfer of the property and the notification of the bond issue were made a few weeks ago, but the magnitude of the work, the amounts involved and the plans of the backers of the enterprises and their names have been kept very quiet until today, when the bonds for the purchase of the property were delivered. Now everything is ready to go ahead and by September 1 men will be at work on the side of Red Mountain opening up the vast deposits of magnetite. There will be one parent and three subsidiary corporations. All are backed by Chicago capital and the Pacific Coast representatives announce that the corporations will all be close ones and that no stock is for sale. It is asserted that the stock has all been apportioned among those who financed and those who promoted the deal.

The parent company is the American Magnesian Corporation, organized under the laws of the State of Maine. This company has for its president Colonel G. Watson French of Chicago, who is interested in the management of several large steel plants in that section. H. C. Stillwell of Fruitvale, one of the California promoters, will remain in the company as vice president and general manager. The company will produce the products of the mine and manufacturing company. Frank A. Daily of Chicago will be secretary, as one of the representatives of the Chicago capital investors. Gustave F. Fischer of Rubens, Dupey & Fischer, representing the United States Steel Corporation, will be treasurer. Charles H. Spinks of Berkeley will be manager of the mining proposition with E. L. Richmond superintendent at the mine at Red Mountain.

This company will begin its work first, opening the deposits of magnetite on Red Mountain, building roads and preparing to ship ore to Oakland and New York.

A 100,000 BRICKS A DAY. J. V. Rose, who is interested in the manufacture of this brick in Sharon, Pa. is one of the principal men in the deal. Rose will organize the Rose Brick Company and is now in the East. This company will include his plants in that East and one to be erected in Oakland. This latter plant will utilize a portion of the output of the Red Mountain mine. It is the intention to erect a plant that will have an output of 100,000 bricks a day. This factory will also turn out a building brick.

In the reduction of the magnetite ore a large quantity of carbonic acid gas is given off. This will be utilized by the American Carbonic Acid Gas Company, of which John Deere of the Deere Implement Company will be president and George A. Wyman, his son-in-law, will be manager. This company will also be operated in Oakland.

The third corporation will be the Pacific Construction Company, which Edwin D. Weary of Chicago will be president and manager and Peter Burg Jagger of London, England, will be vice-president. These men control the American rights for the manufacture of a patent brick and construction material, the basis of which is magnetite. This material is said to be absolutely fireproof and can be made into floorings that will stand any use. This factory will also be located in Oakland.

MUCH MONEY INTERESTED. All of those interested in the general deal will have some share in each one of the companies. After L. Kimbrey of Chicago is said to be the principal backer and will be on the board of directors of all the companies. The others whose names have been mentioned have interests financially in each company, but will divide their managerial services.

The American Magnesian Company has bonded itself for $500,000. These bonds will go to the payment of the promoters of the mining scheme for the purchase of the property, and most of them have already been delivered. The money for the development of the property will come from Chicago.

The mines are located in the side of Red Mountain, on the dividing line between Santa Clara and Stanislaus counties. The mines are nearly all in Santa Clara county with a few claims in Stanislaus, though only a few miles south of the Alameda county line. The new company will build a road from the mines on Red Mountain to the Alameda County line there to connect with the road now being built up the Arroyo Mocho from Livermore by the Alameda County Supervisors. The officials of the company say that they will make a thorough job of the mine, through which they will do all their work and that the various factories will be located on the Oakland water front.

PARKER SPENDS A QUIET DAY.

ESOPUS, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Judge Parker spent a quiet but busy morning after the events of yesterday, when he closed a period of nearly thirty years' service in the judiciary of the State of New York. After breakfast he went into his library and concentrated attention on the very large correspondence which had accumulated during the last few days, when he had devoted all his spare time to his speech of acceptance. Later he went for a horseback ride with Mrs. Parker. It was said that no visitors were expected today.

"Say, pa," queried little Johnny Bumpnickie, "are you a self-made man?" "Yes, my boy, and I'm proud of it," replied the old man. "But, pa," continued the inquisitive youngster, "why didn't you use a looking glass?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

KILLED IN A COLLISION.

SANTA FE TRAIN CRASHES INTO A TROLLEY CAR IN KANSAS CITY.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 6.—The Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe passenger train from Chicago crashed into a trolley car at fourteenth and eighteenth streets at the Bridge crossing in the eastern end of the city today. One person was killed and nine injured. One person was killed and nine injured. The accident was caused by the bars being up. Harry Black, the fireman, who was hurt, says that he was sick and unable to bring the bars into position. There were fourteen persons on the car. The engine struck it square in the center and pushed it slightly off the roadbed, turning the car over and partially demolishing it. J. L. Morris of Pleasant Hill, Missouri, who was standing beside the track, was caught in the debris and so badly hurt that he died in twenty minutes.

Mrs. Muriel Stanbury of Kansas City, was perhaps the most seriously hurt. She suffered a serious injury to her back and probably was hurt internally. She may recover.

The injuries sustained by the others consisted of cuts and bruises.

BUTTON COMPANY ATTACHED. NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The Sheriffs office has received an attachment for $25,000 against the United Button Company, a Delaware corporation, with offices in this city and three factories in Massachusetts, in favor of Theodore M. Peck, on a note of the company which went to justice a few days ago. The company was incorporated in June 1902 with a capital stock of $3,000,000, and is a combination of three of the largest button manufacturing concerns of the United States.

INSANE MEN FIGHT IN COURT.

Charles Tye and John Nystrom Go One Round.

John A. Nystrom, an insane patient, took a punch at Charles Tye, the little prize-fighter, in Judge Ogden's courtroom this morning, where both appeared to have their examinations set. In a second there was trouble, and only the prompt intervention of deputy sheriffs kept Tye from scoring a knockout. Both men had been in the City Prison all night and had given the jailers a great deal of trouble, and came down to the Court House this morning with feathers ruffled, and a fight was on in an instant.

Both men were seated within the railing in the courtroom at some little distance from each other and for the moment there was no one near them. Nystrom, feeling cold, stood up and began to shuffle with his feet in order to warm himself, and Tye got up to make him sit down. Nystrom paid no attention to what Tye was about to do until close to him, but just as Tye put out his hand to reach Nystrom's shoulder, Nystrom swung at Tye's head. The little fellow ducked the blow, which went harmlessly over him, and immediately threw himself into a position to strike. He made a feint for an opening and in another moment would have reached his opponent when he was seized and two men forced the men apart and made them take their seats.

Nystrom's examination has been set for Monday morning. He has been drinking heavily and is in a state where he will allow no one to approach him without striking at them. At the jail he spent most of the time praying, but becomes violent the moment any one attempts to do anything with him. Policeman Forgie swore to the complaint charging him with insanity and had a difficult task to take his man to the City Prison.

Owing to some irregularity in the papers, Tye, instead of being taken to the insane ward of the Receiving Hospital, was taken to the City Prison also, and both men spent the night in the tanks there. His examination will probably be taken up by Judge Melvin this afternoon.

LABOR COMMITTEE IN SESSION.

The County Central Committee of the Union Labor party held their final meeting before the primary election, in Foresters' Hall last night. However, if circumstances should necessitate the holding of another meeting before August 9, the chairman will call the members to a special session.

The chief business at this meeting was to review the lists of delegates who will be sent to the county convention, and whose names had been handed into the County Central Committee by the members of the Union Labor party in the various Assembly districts. These lists were examined, but it was found that very few alterations would be made, as it was thought that the delegates chosen would be capable of representing the labor people in the convention. It has been the intention of the committee to allow by the choice of the people and so far they have lived up to their decision. This attitude of the committee was arrived at several weeks ago. At that time an animated discussion arose as to the plan they would adopt in regard to selecting delegates. Some members of the committee proposed that each one of them be given the privilege of naming the delegates, but the majority decided that the best plan would be to send invitations to the various clubs to submit lists of delegates. In this way the delegates selected would be the direct representatives of the people. The results of adopting this plan have proven very satisfactory, as is seen in the harmonious manner in which all the preliminary work has been accomplished.

RUSSIA MAKES REPLY.

ST. PETERSBURG, August 6.—4:30 p. m.—Russia has communicated to the United States the decision of the Vladivostok prize court, August 4, in the case of the Portland and Asiatic line steamer Arabia, captured by the cruiser Grombol, of the Vladivostok squadron July 22, confiscating such part of her cargo as was consigned to Japanese ports.

The foreign office is carefully considering the objections raised abroad in regard to Russia's list of contraband, but no decision has been reached. From what the correspondent of the Associated Press can gather, while the desire is to avoid irritating neutral powers as much as possible in regard to the Russian declaration on the subjects of foodstuffs, it is pointed out that when the list was published no power objected. Great Britain not raising even a formal objection until several months had elapsed.

Russia's position, as stated to the Associated Press by an official who speaks authoritatively, is as follows: "Foodstuffs consigned to an enemy's ports in sufficient quantity to create the presumption that it is intended for the use of the government's military or naval forces is prima facie contraband and sufficient to warrant holding it for the decision of a prize court. Even if consigned to private firms, the burden of proof that it is not intended for the government rests upon the consignor and consignee. If it can be proved that it is intended for non-combatants it will not be confiscated. Consignments of foodstuffs in mixed cargoes will be considered presumptively to be regular trade shipments and will not be seized as contraband." Russia has not yet replied to Great Britain regarding the latter's protest on the subject.

Democratic Fight Across the Bay is Getting Interesting

The KNAVE

Gay Life in San Francisco--Fight on Resorts Ends Suddenly

SAN FRANCISCO, August 6.—The Democratic scrap that I predicted last week has broken out and there is good fighting all up and down the line. Jim O'Brien has opened headquarters at the Grand Hotel and has sent out word for a hurried getting together against McNab. The "Examiner" is supporting O'Brien, and McNab has been forced to go to the Republican papers to have his fulminations published.

The astute boss has made one grave mistake, however. Through the "Bulletin," which has been leading in making his fight, he has made it very prominent that O'Brien is being supported by Abe Ruef and Mayor Schmitz. Now, until McNab kept pegging away at the declaration, the alliance between O'Brien, the Mayor and the Republican boss was a very flimsy one. But McNab kept insisting so hard that there was a complete junction of forces that he seems in a fair way to bring it about. There certainly is now a very much stronger tendency that way than formerly.

If Schmitz and Ruef really should put their forces behind O'Brien's tickets in the districts where they have no fights of their own it will be all over with McNab, because the Mayor and the boss can muster a larger force of effective primary fighters than anybody else in town. They can completely swamp McNab's thin line of organization Democrats. So the only question is whether Schmitz and Ruef will back O'Brien, and McNab has foolishly tried every way possible to make them do so.

One shrewd move made by McNab, however, was the circulation of the story that O'Brien had been given a big sack with which to make his fight. This started toward the O'Brien headquarters the hungriest horde of Democratic grafters ever seen by man. They would do nothing without pay. They put up all sorts of tales to win O'Brien's ear. The story was out that $2000 was to be spent in each district—$36,000 in all. That sort of a sack would leave McNab with no following worth speaking of. Of course, there is no such money in the fight, but McNab succeeded in making some of the statesmen believe that O'Brien was holding out on them.

The Democrats seem to be fighting over an empty pork barrel at best, as the election will give them very little meat on which to feed the hungry job-chasers. There is a general notion that Judges Seawell and Murasky, Democrats, will be re-elected Superior Court Judges, and a few legislators may be saved out of the wreck. There will be a fighting chance for them to win out in the Fourth and Fifth Congressional districts unless, should O'Brien win, he should turn down Livernash, whom he dislikes. Then there would be the finest kind of a scrap in the Fourth.

In the Fifth the Republicans cannot seem to agree on a candidate. The leaders say there is no man decided on—that no candidate is in the field. But all the time, George H. Pippy, president of the Union League Club, is shouting at the top of his lungs, "I am a candidate! I am a candidate!" But he does not seem to be able to attract attention to himself. Dr. Osborn, formerly superintendent of the Home for Feeble Minded at Glen Ellen, is an active candidate for the nomination and is trying to get the Santa Clara county delegation. Charlie Shortridge says Dr. Osborn will be permitted to go on carrying for the feeble minded. Shortridge has the inside track thus far, as Herrin inclines to favor him. If the Hayes brothers would cease their opposition he would be the nominee in a jiffy; but they insist they will not stand for his nomination.

Shortridge himself says: "I wasn't born into politics yesterday. I know that if the men in control want to give me this nomination, they'll do it. If they don't want me, I'll not get the job. So I'm not working my shirt off—just practicing a little rhetoric and elocution in case things should come my way."

J. O. Hayes is credited with hanging on to his ambition to become Governor. So he isn't as fierce as he might be under other circumstances. His San Jose paper doesn't dosh around in politics nearly as much as it used to, and it is Shortridge's hope that this ambition to be Governor will so mollify the wrath of Hayes that he and his brother will not persist in blocking the Shortridge path to fame.

Judge Frank H. Short of Fresno is another citizen with a desire to be Governor. He can be found where Republicans are thickest, smiling blandly and being ready with a greeting palm.

For now these many years I have wondered at the small returns from prize-fights. The prizes are high enough, heaven knows. Generally the crowds are big; frequently they are overflowing. But when the returns are announced they are not at all up to expectations.

Of course, a blind man could tell that most of the high-priced seats are given away. The Supervisors and city officials and their friends occupy the fancy boxes. Each newspaper gets a bunch of tickets, and these often are distributed in strange places. But even that did not account for the disparity in the people and the financial return. All the pull and drag in the city did not seem to make up the difference.

At last I'm "on." It's the policeman on the gate. The wise men of the clubs; the foxy men about town never buy prize-fight tickets. They go right up to the door and slip the policeman on guard a dollar apiece. At once they are escorted to fine seats near the ring and the fight goes on. If ever you have attended a prize-fight you have seen men with high-priced tickets come in late. You have seen them scrap for those seats—seats invariably occupied. The policeman is called. He fixes up some sort of a compromise, and the man with the coupon he paid for always gets the worst of it. The man who pays is regarded as a sucker. He doesn't know the ropes. He's easy. And that's why so many people see the fighting for so little money at the gate.

There has been another spasmodic attack on the so-called tenderloin resorts. This time the "Bulletin" broke out. It "has been heard to cease," and Morgan's "Orchard," the "Belvedere," the "Majestic," Schiff & Dow's, Pratt & Tierney's "Orienta," and the rest, go blithely on. Everywhere there is music and drinking and the gay life.

As a matter of fact—cold, hard fact—these resorts hurt few people and amuse many. The habitués are persons not easily hurt. The women are the women of the night life; the men are generally rounders. The "young person," for whom we exercise so constant a care, is excluded. There is little rowing. The proprietors generally muscular men, are quick to suppress disorder. They want to keep their places "respectable."

In the old days of the closed back rooms there undoubtedly was some harm; but now everything is in the open. There is singing and piano playing. The newest song hits of New York are sent on to the San Francisco night resorts at once. Once in a long time there is, in the late hours, a song that is a bit suggestive, but the men and women who listen are far beyond the blushing stage of development. Now and again a couple dances the "lovers' two-step," which is almost as bad as a double danse du ventre or a coupled hula. But that is the worst you get. They are not family resorts, but they do little harm.

The trouble is these saloon men are the prey of the official harpies. Like the Chinese gamblers, they have to "put up or shut up." If the officials would let them alone, except for a strict and impartial police regulation, there would not be much to quarrel with in San Francisco as a wide open town.

What became of the "Bulletin's" tenderloin crusade? is the question the patrons and men about the town are asking one another. Ten days ago the "Bulletin" announced that it would write up the various resorts sprinkled along Mason, Ellis, Eddy, Powell and O'Farrell streets. An attack on the Belvedere music hall was printed and a write-up of Pratt & Tierney's cafe also appeared. There was a brief description of the Press saloon on Ellis street. But the exploit of the Inverness resort on Mason street and Morgan's Orchard on Eddy street have never appeared. Neither has the listed attack on the saloon conducted by Alex Greggains, the once prize-fighter, and Jimmy La Strange, former king of the bunco men.

The reporter sent by the "Bulletin" to get the material for these attacks managed to have quite a wild time of it. He bought all the liquor in sight; he accumulated an electric jag, and was twice robbed.

The attack on the Belvedere, of course, was a slap at Ruef. The other articles were written probably for the purpose of filling the paper with interesting reading matter. Just why the much-heralded crusade has been abandoned no one may say with any degree of accuracy.

Under the Phelan regime the town was a net work of saloon side-rooms. The men conducting these resorts spend considerable money in order to keep their places going. In the first place, the police have to be bribed. Members of the Police Commission have to be assisted financially. More or less costly entertainments have to be provided in order to keep the patrons amused. Then, a certain number of the women who frequent the place are on salary. These women are used by the proprietors of the place as bait. Of course, the receipts are very large. During the winter months last year one cafe did a $6000 a month business. Since the racing season ended the monthly receipts of this particular place have dropped down to $3000.

THE KNAVE.

CORNER STONE IN IDLENESS.

BLOCK WHICH SERVED PURPOSE
IN FIRST BUILDING OF Y. M. C. A.

For several days past, pedestrians on the north side of Fourteenth street, near the corner of Jefferson street, have noticed a small block of white sand stone with a cavity in the middle about ten inches in depth, five inches in width and eight inches in height. This block lies outside the high road fence which outlines the lot upon which it is proposed to erect the new Y. M. C. A. building.

HISTORIC BLOCK.
This piece of stone is of historic interest, because it served as the cornerstone of the old Y. M. C. A. building, which recently became the possession of Charles Jurgens and is now being transformed into an apartment and business structure. In the initial decision of the structure the corner stone of the building was removed to permit of the erection of a new building called for by the design of the remodeler's building.

AN OBJECT OF LESSON.
The stone became at once an object of interest and curiosity to the residents, and it had not been long out of its historic position when workmen's pick was asserted in the lid of the copper receptacle which filled the aperture, with the purpose of laying bare the contents. The lid was then torn off and the contents, which had been "slumbering" there since August 29, 1889, and which it is thought might not be disturbed for half a century at least, were rudely exposed to view.

PEOPLE SCATTERED.
Many a person who attended the ceremony of the laying of that corner stone, fifteen years ago, has gone to other parts of the world while some have long since been slumbering in eternity. The scene is true of those who took active part in the proceedings, the program of which will now undoubtedly be read with interest as follows: "Scriptural reading, Rev. F. A. Horton; prayer, Rev. E. J. Dill; hymn, 500; address, Rev. J. L. D. S. Chapman; statement, E. W. Platter, of Building Committee; remarks, Mayor John W. Gascock; laying of the cornerstone, Rev. C. H. Hobart."

VARIOUS MEMENTOS.
The box in the cavity contained a number of mementos of that time, among them being contribution cards, showing the donation of 25 cents, which it was said would purchase one inch of the ground on which the building was to be erected; pledge blanks, blank of the Y. M. C. A., including application for membership, honorary membership, life membership; card of C. A. Burdwell, the architect; "greeting" by D. Edward Collins, chairman of the committee of arrangements; book of gospel hymns; by-laws of the Y. M. C. A.; circulars of the California Society for the Suppression of Vice; photograph of Hon. John M. Buffington, honorary president; Capt. Isaiah Bray, late master of the mission ship Morning Star and D. Edward Collins, the last mentioned gentleman being represented with a beard; list of Building Committee comprising E. W. Platter, D. Edward Collins, Geo. T. Hawley, Pippy Bartlett, H. H. Levinson, Charles W. Kinsey and Capt. Isaiah Bray; statement showing cost of lot to be $17,000 and of proposed building $42,000; subscription list, showing donations, among others of Sam-

T. Alexander of $5000, George T. Hawley $2500, Wm. D. Edward Collins $2000, etc. copies of THE TRIBUNE, Engineer and Times, and a number of other articles.

The disposition of this stone has not yet been determined. It is not at all improbable that it may be incorporated in the new structure as a reminder of the first progressive step in building made by the association.

IS WELL RECEIVED IN OHIO TOWN.

GEORGE CALDERWOOD MAKES A PROHIBITION ADDRESS TO GREENVILLE RESIDENTS.

The following is from the Greenville Courier, Greenville, Ohio, and refers to George Calderwood, a well known resident of this city:

"A more refined or more intelligent audience never convened in this city than the one which greeted George Calderwood at the Opera House Thursday night. Our best lawyers, best merchants, best ministers, and best citizens male and female were there in large numbers.

"They all wanted to hear George, to see him, and to shake hands with him. Our citizens, as a whole, wanted to show their appreciation of a man whose energy and pen have covered every range of anecdote, history and biography relating to Drake county.

"Many beautiful bouquets were sent to George by his numerous lady friends, and they were scattered about the stage in an attractive manner.

"Mayor Wilson presided, not as a partisan Prohibitionist, but as an official of the city, to honor and present the speaker to his fellow townsmen, whose respect for George borders on the phenomenal.

"The singing of Charles McChesney, as selected by Miss Anna Bittimer, Mrs. K. Schermermund, and Bert Horn, was grand and the audience loudly applauded them.

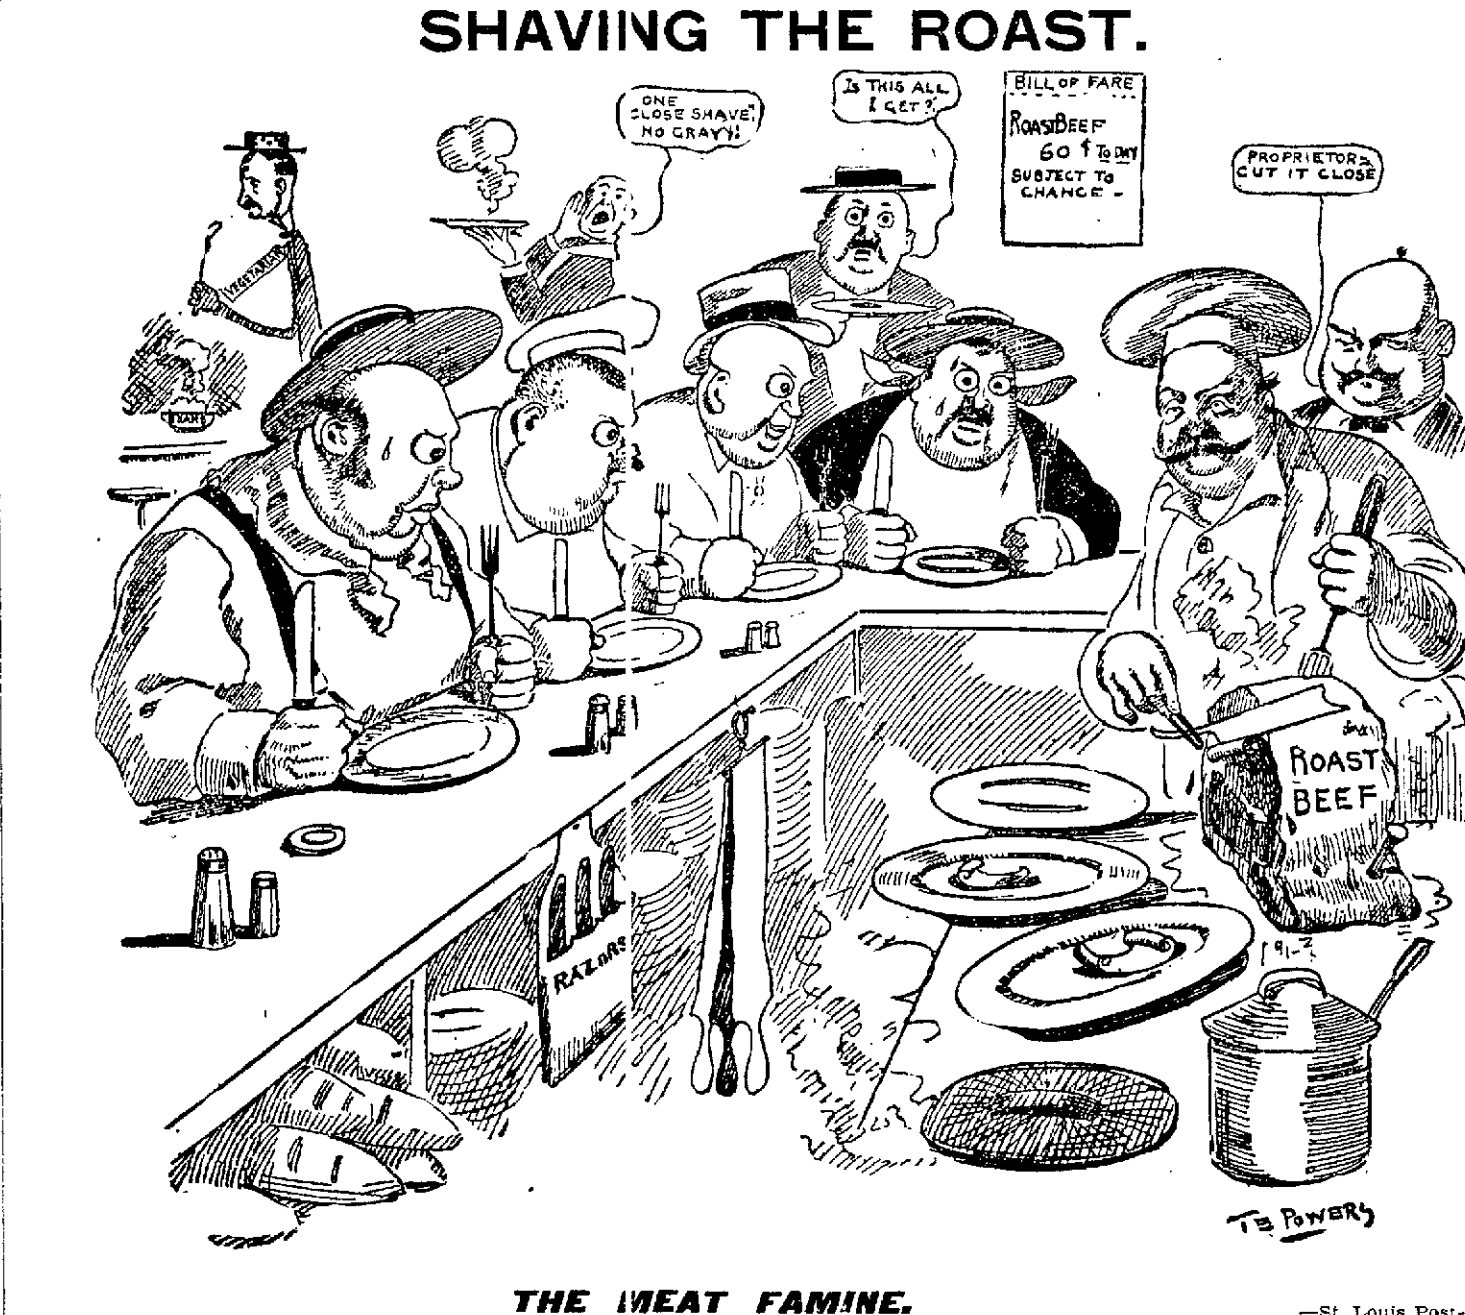

"George's theme was 'Civic Pride,' a plea for better municipal government and final repeal of the national revenue system, and the consequent extirpation of the liquor traffic by the national law.

"The speaker didn't single unkind word to say against those who differ with him; but after giving fact upon fact, he asked both Democrats and Republicans to vote the Prohibition ticket in sufficient numbers to overcome the liquor vote, which both parties recognize as a balance of power—power to elect or defeat either of them at will.

"He said 100,000 votes for his party would be sufficient to force one or the other of the two great parties to include the Prohibition ticket in its next platform.

"George certainly feels proud of the magnanimity and character of his audience, and he always gets a grand hearing in Greenville. He certainly deserves it. His method of handling the liquor question is a vote-making one for his party, and will have telling effect. After a week's rest he will go to New York."

STREET CAR HELD UP.
PORTLAND, Ore., August 6.—One of the cars of the recently completed scenic road of the Portland Street Railway Company was held up about midnight last night on Portland Heights by two masked highwaymen. There were eight passengers on the car, all of whom were robbed. It was not known how much was obtained, but the amount was considerable.

THE MEAT FAMINE.

JAPANESE DO SOME HARD FIGHTING.

RUSH THROUGH THE FIRE ZONE
AND MANY ARE KILLED
DURING ATTACK.

SIMOUCHENG, Manchuria, August 5.—There was heavy fighting here for two days. The Japanese commenced the attack at dawn on July 31st with a long-range rifle on the Russian right. The Russians wasted no ammunition in replying to this fire, and the Japanese brought a mountain battery to their support. They then moved forward in order to secure a better range, the infantry racing across the Russian zone of fire to secure a better range to the ridge on the Russian right. Many fell during the advance but the remainder gallantly pressed on and got the cover of the ridge. The battery followed galloping recklessly forward as well as the nature of the ground permitted. There was no fault to find with their shooting from the new position from which they concentrated their shell and rifle fire on the Russians, compelling the latter to fall back 150 yards to better cover. A battery coming to the support of the Russians turned the tide of battle and silenced the Japanese guns, four of which were dismounted.

The Japanese then retired from their position and with the remainder of their forces attacked and pressed other points of the Russian line, creeping up through the Kaolin fields to within 400 yards of the Russian trenches. They lost heavily. The Russian machine guns had a hot fight except from the extreme heat. Towards evening the Russians tapped the Japanese telegraph communication and found that the Japanese were preparing for a flank movement. Lieutenant General Zassalsky extended his flank companies and headed off the movement. General Mishchenko had a hot fight on the Russian flank. His cavalry attacked the Japanese, inflicting heavy loss and retiring safely to its former position.

The battle was resumed on the morning of July 31st. The Japanese tried to envelop the Russian left, but they were met by a division of a brigade posted especially in expectation of their movement and were driven back with loss.

ACCUSED OF MURDER.
SEATTLE, Wash., August 6.—Ray Brom, accused of murdering Richard Roberts in Decatur, Ill., last April and who was arrested by Detective Bancroft of this city last Saturday night, was identified by Sheriff C. A. Shrift of Macon county, Ill., who has arrived here.
